VICTORIA, B. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9, 1913

NO. 83

PROVINCE'S HANDS TIED BY BORDEN'S JAPANESE TREATY BILL LEGISLATION

BRITISH COLUMBIA MEMBERS VOTE AGAINST FRANK OLIVER'S AMENDMENT DESIGNED TO PROTECT RIGHTS OF ALL THE PROVINCES

Bill to Prevent Employment of White Women by Asiatics Disallowed by Borden If Japanese Are Not Excluded From Its Provisions

Ottawa, April 9.—The liberty of Canadian action regarding immigration is restricted by the new Japanese treaty in two particulars. First, Canada cannot amend her present immigration law so far as the Japanese are concerned.

Second: By official correspondence between Premier Borden and the Japanese Consul-General preliminary to the introduction of the government bill relating to the treaty, Canada has been bound not to take advantage of the provisions of the existing immigration law to discriminate against Japanese immigration.

The Liberals moved an amendment to ensure the rights of the Dominion to deal as it pleased with the question of such immigration and the right of the provinces to regulate by law the Asiatics who may reside within their borders. That amendment was voted down by the government majority, the Liberals voting for it.

Among those who voted against the amendment were: Hon. Martin Burrell; H. H. Stevens, Vancouver; R. F. Green, Kootenay; and F. H. Shepherd, Nanaimo. While G. H. Barnard, of Victoria; J. D. Taylor, New Westminster, and H. S. Clements, Comox-Atlin, were paired against it. As the result of the defeat of this Liberal amendment the treaty will go through unchanged and Canada will be debarred from exerting Canadian law or regulation to restrict Japanese immigration.

The immigration act, as it is to-day, is the only law of Canada that will be recognized under the treaty. That law passed by the late Liberal government provides for a discriminatory regulation of immigration, but Premier Borden, in introducing his bill relating to the new treaty, tabled correspondence between himself and the Japanese Consul-General in which Mr. Borden specifically declared that the Canadian government would not discriminate against Japanese immigration. The Japanese Consul-General, in his letter, says that the Japanese government is willing to accept the treaty subject to the condition guaranteed by Premier Borden's letter. Therefore Canadian liberty to restrict Japanese immigration under this Borden arrangement is taken away.

One section of the treaty also provides that Japanese in relation to the pursuit of their industries, callings, professions and educational studies shall be on the same footing as the subjects of "the most favored nation." During the debate in the House it was brought out that after the Saskatchewan Legislature had provided a by-law against the employment of white women by Asiatics, the Borden cabinet had notified the Saskatchewan government that the law would be disallowed if Japanese were not excluded from its provisions. Consequently the Saskatchewan Legislature was compelled to amend the law, making it applicable to Chinese only. Notwithstanding the full knowledge on the part of the Dominion government that this question of provincial jurisdiction had arisen, Premier Borden insisted on driving his treaty bill through the House.

The Liberal amendment which was brought forward was as follows: "Resolved, that the bill be not read a third time, but that it be referred back to committee of the whole with instructions to amend the same by inserting in paragraph 'A' of section two, after the words 'The immigration act,' the following words: 'Or of any amendment or amendments thereto which may hereafter be enacted, or the provisions of any existing act of a provincial legislature or any subsequent act thereof which, but for such treaty, would be within the authority of such legislature.' That amendment the government voted down.

NUMBER RESTRICTED BY LIBERALS' RULE

Agreement Arranged by Lemieux With Japan Worked Out Well

Canada Then Retained Right to Legislate Against Asiatics Including Japanese

Provinces Were Then Left Free to Legislate as Local Conditions Required

Ottawa, April 9.—It will be remembered that under the Lemieux arrangement with Japan, that country agreed to restrict the number of emigrants to a few hundred per year. In view of the treaty with Great Britain the government of the day thought it politic to accept this arrangement, and experience has shown that it has worked out well.

Canada, however, still had the right to legislate against Japanese immigration, just as she has against other Asiatics. Japanese were not excepted from the restriction which provides that no Asiatic will be admitted unless he or she comes direct from the country of origin. Also the provinces were left free to regulate the Japanese as they desired.

Under the new Borden legislation the country will now have to accept all Japanese who come and there is no underfaking by Japan to limit the number.

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATES AGAINST THE JAPANESE

Tokio, April 9.—Widespread irritation has been aroused in Japan by the proposed anti-Japanese legislation in California. Commercial men threatening to boycott the Panama-Pacific exposition unless the objectionable bills are withdrawn. It is stated that Vincent Chinda, Japanese ambassador to the United States, has made representations to President Wilson and the secretary of state.

IN THE HANDS OF THE SHEARER

DISCOVERY MADE BY MAWSON EXPLORERS

Antarctic Continent Much Farther South Than Explorer Wilkes Mapped Out

NEWS RECEIVED BY WIRELESS MESSAGES

Adelie Land is First Actual Land in the Antarctic Region

NIGHT MESSAGES ARE SENT FAR AND WIDE

Sydney, N. S. W., April 9.—That the Antarctic continent lies much farther south than Explorer Wilkes mapped out during his expedition to the Antarctic, has been clearly proven by the members of Doctor Douglas Mawson's party. Wireless messages received from Dr. Mawson indicate that the members of his party are engaged in systematic research work during their enforced stay among the ice and snow of the polar region.

According to the commander, the landfalls which Wilkes charted eastward of Adelie Land, do not exist, and the continent itself clearly lies in a more southerly direction than that established by Wilkes. Dr. Mawson maintains that the first actual land in the Antarctic is Adelie Land.

The party has been very successful in current testing, magnetic experiments and meteorological investigations. The use of wireless telegraphy has proven a great innovation in the exploration work.

Night messages have been sent far and wide, the operator having spoken with New Zealand, Sydney, Melbourne, Hobart and mail steamers crossing the Great Australian light. The party have been kept posted with all the world happenings.

The doctor is anxious that the Aurora should leave Australia in November in order to reach the party during the month of December.

KING NICHOLAS IS READY TO ABDICATE

Will Leave Throne if Force is Employed Against Kingdom by Powers

MONTENEGRO WOULD UNITE WITH SERBIA

London, April 9.—King Nicholas of Montenegro has definitely arranged plans to abdicate his throne if force is employed by the European powers against his little kingdom. This announcement was made to-day in official Montenegrin circles here.

The arrangements for this action were made by King Nicholas in consultation with King Peter of Serbia. The agreement provides that King Nicholas shall abdicate and with his family leave his country. Montenegro will then effect a union with Serbia, while King Nicholas and his family will be given an appropriate provision from the civil list and will reserve a right of succession to the Serbo-Montenegrin throne.

STRIKING TO GAIN MANHOOD SUFFRAGE

Brussels, April 9.—According to the Socialist estimates, 35,000 men will go on strike in Brussels Monday. The number in the province of Liege, who will join in the movement is estimated at 150,000, while the strike will be general in the Hainaut coalfields and in the district of Charleroi.

The strike is being declared to force the government to give the people a system of manhood suffrage.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THREATENING LETTER

London, April 9.—British suffragettes declare they are not responsible for an anonymous letter threatening death to Justice Sir Charles Montague Lush, the judge who sentenced Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst to three years' imprisonment.

TENTH MURDER IN CHINESE TONG WAR

San Francisco Grand Jury Issues Eighteen Indictments Against Bay City's Celestials

San Francisco, Cal., April 9.—Stung to action by still another insensitively-open tong murder, the police began to-day a series of the most important arrests ever made in Chinatown. Even as the grand jury was deliberating last night on tongs and their ways, the tenth murder in the Bing Kong-Suey Sing war was committed in Oakland.

To-day the police began service of eighteen warrants, called for in indictments charging murder returned late last night by the grand jury, which found bills against Wong Jim, secretary of the Chinese Six Companies, the most powerful Chinese mercantile organization in America; Won Doo King, president of the Bing Kong; Louie Quoig, secretary of the same tong; Chan Shee Ping and Chin Ling, respectively president and secretary of the Suey Sing tong. Nine of those indicted were already under arrest when the indictments were returned.

They were taken in during a raid on Chinatown after the slaying of Lee Quong Sing, a Suey Sing man, on March 21.

The man killed last night was Lee Hong, a Bing Kong man, who was shot six times through the chest; the moment he showed his head from the room where he had been hiding for six weeks since the fighting began.

The police and federal authorities are co-operating in the most earnest effort yet made to rid the city of these subtle quarrels.

FIFTH AVENUE STOPS WHILE MOTOR PASSES

Wives of Author and Comedian Hurry Injured Woman to Hospital

New York, April 9.—An automobile traveling fifty miles an hour shot down Fifth avenue, from Nineteenth street to Seventieth street yesterday afternoon, while the chauffeur tooted his horn and a policeman on the running board waved all traffic to a standstill.

In the tonneau were Mrs. Rox Beach, wife of the author, and Mrs. Fred Stone, wife of the comedian. They are sisters. Between them they supported Miss Leonie Burjill, who had just been injured in a runaway accident in Central Park.

THOSE SURROUNDING POPE PIUS ARE CONFIDENT THAT HE WILL RECOVER

Rome, April 9.—The temperature of the pope rose slightly at 3 o'clock this afternoon, reaching 99 degrees. The pope dozed for a short time this afternoon. When he was awake he appeared to feel too weak to take much notice of those around him.

He smiled, however, when he was visited by his sisters and his niece, who sat quietly in the room for some time without disturbing him.

The official Vatican newspaper, the Osservatore Romano, says in its evening edition to-day: "We are glad to be able to give the assurance that after his relapse on Monday evening, the condition of the pope is constantly and notably ameliorating."

Cardinal Merry del Val, last night, in reply to questions concerning the exact condition of the pope, said: "I feel sure that with extreme care, helped by the prayers of the faithful, the holy father will be spared long for the glory of the church."

Prof. Marchiafava in an interview last night said that alarm was not justified. He expressed the hope that the attending physicians would be able to overcome the disease if the pontiff were allowed complete rest.

Prof. Marchiafava's examination of the pope to-day was of a most minute character. He declared afterward that there was a noticeable improvement in the pontiff's general condition, but stated that the relapse he suffered yesterday did not appear to be on the decline.

Three thousand pilgrims gathered in the course of the morning on the piazza, St. San Pietro in front of the Vatican under the open window of the pope's apartment and prayed for his recovery.

London, April 9.—A Central News dispatch says the pope suffered from a fainting fit lasting two hours this afternoon and it was rumored in the lobbies of the Italian chamber of deputies that the pontiff was in extremis.

Professor Marchiafava, however, continues to assert that the pope is no worse and that there are no grounds for anxiety.

WELL KNOWN MAN IN NORTH VANCOUVER

Body of J. Wylie Donaldson Found by Search Party Last Night

Vancouver, April 9.—Discovered by a search party which had been organized by his friends, the body of J. Wylie Donaldson, secretary of the North Vancouver Board of Trade, and a well-known figure on the north shore, was found last night on a vacant lot north of Temple Heights. The position of the body, some notes pinned to an overcoat, the latter carefully folded, and a bullet wound in the temple, showed that Mr. Donaldson had wandered from the carline and in a fit of depression had committed suicide.

Mr. Donaldson, who was connected with the firm of Alexander Smith & Company, brokers, was a man of very regular habits, and when he disappeared, after having been seen boarding a car on his way to his home, at the corner of Ninth street and the Boulevard, the previous evening, some anxiety was felt by his friends, who organized a search party.

Mr. Donaldson on Monday afternoon appeared to be in the best of health, and in the evening he attended the city council meeting, remaining until the Burrard Inlet Bridge & Tunnel Company's business, in which he was interested, was concluded. The only reason given for his tragic end is that his mind may have become unhinged by overwork and study. Mr. Donaldson was a bachelor and resided with his mother.

COMMITTED SUICIDE DURING DEPRESSION

Strike Spreading, Engines Are Without Coal, Whole State Affected To-day

LABOR GOVERNMENT IS FACING DILEMMA

Sydney, N. S. W., April 9.—The railway strike in this state is spreading with remarkable rapidity. The coal stagers struck last night and the suburban train service is completely paralyzed, the supply of coal for the engines being depleted. It is expected that the whole passenger service throughout the state will be affected to-day.

The Labor government is in a dilemma, but has decided to deal with the trouble in a firm manner despite the risk of incurring the displeasure of the laboring classes. The premier has announced that unless a peaceful settlement is reached immediately, the government will intervene with the intention of ending the trouble.

The railway commission, on the other hand, has refused absolutely to grant any acceptable concessions to the men.

The trouble at the silver mining centre of Broken Hill continues. The strikers now demand that the state government should acquire the private tramway systems and resume transportation. All the miners are idle.

Winnipeg, April 9.—Fred McMahon, manager of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, has been appointed assistant to Hayer Reed with jurisdiction over all Canadian Pacific hotels west of Winnipeg.

SUGAR WAS SOLD AS PURE COCAINE

White Crystals From Montreal Seized at San Francisco Last Night

San Francisco, April 9.—Eight hundred pounds of white crystals, contained in four trunks, seized last night in an hotel, and supposed to be cocaine, proved under analysis to-day to be crystallized sugar cane. This dissolved the contraband cache, and the $50,000 seizure and other things pleasing to an ambitious detective, which the police were happy to believe last night they had ferreted out. What they do appear to have stumbled on though, is quite the rarest swindle known in many years.

All the sugar was put up in drug-gist bottles, bearing the name of a Montreal manufacturer, chemist, and labelled "cocaine hydrochloride, large crystals, highest purity."

The owner evidently planned to impose on the craving of drug fiends. Edward Arlington, who is under arrest charged with obtaining money under false pretences, admits storing the trunks in the room, where they were found, but denies that he is the owner.

SUPERSTITION STOPS THE YAQUI INDIANS

Braves Do Not Object to Fight but Will Not Risk Death at Night

Naco, Ariz., April 9.—The Yaqui Indians, fighting with the Mexican Constitutionalists against the Huerta government, stoically refused to attack Naco during last night. Their chiefs explained that it killed at night the Indian braves believed their souls would float through indefinite darkness. The Yaquis did some fighting yesterday.

Seven Mexicans, arrested by the Ninth U. S. Cavalry patrol yesterday, carried dynamite hand grenades supposedly to assist in the early attacks from the Arizona side of the line. Major Reed, of the Ninth Cavalry, placed a row of railroad cars to load with coke along the border, thus to lessen the danger to residents of the Arizona town. As in previous Mexican border battles, American physicians and volunteer nurses were not wanting.

Two army physicians and a Naco doctor in army ambulances visited the state troops' camp to find more than fifty wounded soldiers uncared for on the field. The leaders would not permit their removal to the American side, where the federal injured are being treated.

ANDREW CARNEGIE WAS UNRECOGNIZED

Has Confidence in Newspaper Men Finding Him on Attending Peace Society

New York, April 9.—Among the crowd that waited in the corridor of the Hotel Astor yesterday for the doors to be opened for the New York Peace Society meeting was a slight, white-haired and white-bearded man, who seemed lost in the jostling throng. He made his way to the stairway and tried to learn from a hallway why the doors to the meeting room were not open.

It seemed strange that anyone as well known as Andrew Carnegie should pass almost unrecognized, but Carnegie it was who had the unsuccessful interview with the hallboy. But finally he overheard some reporters discussing the gathering and joined in, apparently glad to have someone to talk to. A woman who had escorted him to his resting place on the stairs was regretting that she must leave before seeing Carnegie safely inside, but he told her not to worry as he would count on the reporters to look out for him.

MANY IMMIGRANTS

Winnipeg, April 9.—During the week closing to-day 5,597 immigrants arrived in Winnipeg from ocean ports, being distributed from here, over the whole west. Of the total number 3,979 were British. The number includes 1,009 Russians brought to the west by the Canadian Pacific railway.

Russell Glacier is many miles in length and it requires an entire day for a good musher to cross from the White river side to the Coppee river side.

Wiley, it is understood, could find no other articles or signs of human beings in the vicinity, but felt confident the blankets and the rifle were those belonging to the Schmidts.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt lived in Dawson for years and had many friends. Mrs. Schmidt became well-known in a long, spectacular fight which she made against the Yukon Gold Company...

DR. MICHAEL CLARK REPLIES TO SPEECH BY MINISTER OF FINANCE

Six Hours Debate on Navy Bill in House of Commons Yesterday With Intimation at Adjournment That Premier's Closure Motion is to Be Introduced To-day

Ottawa, April 8.—On adjournment of the House of Commons last night Hon. Robert Rogers replying to a question by Hon. George P. Graham said the resolution standing in the prime minister's name, the closure, would be the order of business for to-day. This plan may be changed as Premier Borden was indisposed yesterday, but the closure motion is the first business the government will bring before the House on the premier's reappearance.

The six hours of debate on the navy bill were occupied by Hon. W. T. White, for the government, and Dr. Clark and F. B. Carvell for the Liberal side.

Mr. White having quoted Winston Churchill extensively said the Liberal navy policy was one in the first instance of political expediency. It was like the image of Balthazar's dream made of many metals including brass, but with the feet of clay.

"I am not a Daniel come to judgment," remarked Mr. White, "but I am trying to interpret the policy."

"I think you will come to judgment," remarked Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Members of the opposition had been declaring that the policy of the government was a policy of permanent contribution.

"I would like to state it here, and clearly," said Mr. White, "that I am as entirely against the policy of permanent contribution to Great Britain as are my honorable friends."

Mr. White remarked on what he called the divided opinions of Liberal members. There was one group which was apparently not in favor of the Liberal leader's idea of building two fleet units. There were others who counseled delay. He would ask what was the party's policy? Was it a make-believe or a policy of political expediency?

The country had judged on that question once, and it would judge again. It was contended by some members of the opposition that the gift would violate Canada's autonomy. He would like to know wherein lay the violation. The money was voted by parliament, and there was no compulsion from outside. Mr. White said that he was always in favor of spending money in Canada when they got fair results. You could not, he said, build dreadnoughts in Canada, and the honorable gentleman opposite knew it. The prosperity of Canada, he continued, depended largely upon two things: the flow of British immigration and the flow of British capital. Within recent years two-and-a-half billion dollars have been invested in Canada.

"They are doing it because it is a good investment," said Mr. F. B. Carvell.

Dr. Michael Clark, Red Deer, took exception to quotations from Mr. Churchill's speech read by the minister of finance. Mr. Churchill did not say that Canadian vessels would be absolutely required. What he said was that they would not be an addition to the world-wide requirements of the Empire. It was to be remembered that these cables were sent across by men who are members of a ring of international jingoes. The whole question was what are the requirements of the Empire. The argument of the minister of finance, he said, really meant that if this proposal was rejected, British investments would be frightened away from the Dominion. That was the cheapest argument which could possibly be used. It meant that the policy proposed was a cheap confidence trick on the investing public of Great Britain.

Mr. Churchill had admitted, said Dr. Clark, that this question was no longer handled by him. It has been given over to the permanent officials of the navy, who are always jingoes, with a desire to get more money to spend. The same thing would apply to Canadian jingoes. Think of the capers the minister of militia would cut if he could get any of the $25,000,000 to spend.

The government's policy, said Dr. Clark, died on March 15, the last day of the continuous session. The interment might be deferred, but was certain to take place. The speeches made by the ministers on Monday were funeral in tone and presaged the death of the bill.

The member for Red Deer introduced a reference to closure by remarking that it was time enough to bid the devil good morning when you meet him. The expression "like ministry, like measures," would probably properly describe the situation. Apart from Mr. Foster this was a cabinet without experience, just the kind of a cabinet which might be expected to introduce closure. They were poor workmen, and they worked with poor tools.

This ministry proposed closure. Why not let the people pass judgment on the closure as well as on the navy bill? If there was no mandate for the latter, there was certainly none for the former. When the bill was last before the House, Dr. Clark said that the opposition had won a battle for free speech. They had pierced the ministerial silence.

Another result of the delay due to the fight made by the opposition was that the country knew what Downing street proposed to do with the three dreadnoughts. Had any minister of the crown heard of the flying squadron before Mr. Churchill spoke? It was quite evident that the government got its policy from Downing street, and yet the minister of finance declared that in the proposal of the government there was no loss of autonomy.

Dr. Clark said he had three particular objections to the proposals as explained by the minister of finance. In the first place it was not an imperial policy. It might more properly be described as an Anglo-Canadian-Malay policy. Australia ostentatiously and nobly stood outside the agreement. South Africa is considering a policy and New Zealand is rapidly coming around to the Laurier idea.

And at this present moment the Canadian government would allow the Dominion to line up at Gibraltar with the Malays.

His second objection was to be found in the words used by Mr. Churchill, "directly controlled by the Admiralty." These words, he said, were enough to condemn the whole proposal. Mr. Churchill had said to himself, "I cannot get Australia, but I can get the Sultan of Perak and the Sultan of Mantoba."

Dr. Clark's third objection was that the government proposal neglected a most vital problem of defence on the Pacific coast. There is where the real danger lies, he said, and yet it would take the flying squadron twenty-three days to reach that ocean.

The minister of finance, said Dr. Clark, has said that the Liberal policy had feet of clay. This he was willing to grant; their policy had feet of Canadian clay. Let no man mistake that policy. The government dare not disavow it. The government has not the moral courage to disown it. They know what the people of Canada think about this question. You cannot, he continued, go to the people of Canada with a platform, one plank of which is "you cannot do things." Canadians can do things, even if the ministers do not believe in them. It was the habit of Conservative members to laugh at the training ship Niobe. Right-thinking people did not laugh at British ships.

At the evening session, when Dr. Clark resumed his speech, Hon. W. T. White produced a cable dispatch from the colonial office to Premier Borden in substantiation of the report of the speech of Mr. Churchill quoted in the afternoon. The dispatch said that Mr. Churchill stated that the Canadian ships would be refused by the Admiralty. The contradictory cable which Dr. Clark had read, he said, appeared in the London News and Leader before Mr. Churchill had spoken.

Dr. Clark said he would desire further confirmation before he would believe that Mr. Churchill had made the statement attributed to him. If he had he had repudiated every statement made by himself and the other members of the Asquith government for the past three years.

Dr. Clark referred to existing conditions in the west as a reason why $25,000,000 should not be sent out of the country. He quoted from a Calgary newspaper a statement to the effect that the farmers in Alberta at the present time owe $20,000,000 for agricultural implements.

If the government would do something to give the farmers wider markets it would mean more for the Empire than building dreadnoughts, because such action would lead to prosperity.

Dr. Clark closed with an eloquent peroration, in which he emphasized the thought that the best idea of Empire is a commonwealth of strong sister nations built up in the same way and possessing the same aspirations as the Motherland.

The debate was continued by F. B. Carvell, Carleton, N. B.

LONG TUNNELS FOR THE GREAT EASTERN

Maximum Grades North Vancouver to Point Atkinson Not Over One Per Cent.

ELEVEN HUNDRED MEN ARE EMPLOYED ON LINE

Vancouver, April 8.—An engineering party of the Pacific Great Eastern railway under the direction of E. A. Dice, has completed the final location between the second narrows through North Vancouver to Point Atkinson lighthouse and is now engaged on similar work between the lighthouse and Newport at the head of Howe Sound. This is regarded as evidence of the intention of P. Welch, the contractor, to undertake construction on the lower section without further delay. The preliminary line between the second narrows and Newport, a distance of 42 miles, was run last year. It has now been definitely established that the maximum grades between those two points will not exceed one per cent. The route will follow the shore line virtually all the way and will only be a few feet above high water mark. Instead of winding past the Point Atkinson lighthouse the railway will cut through a natural draw east of the lighthouse, then strike Howe Sound and follow it all the way to Newport. The project of bridging several of the indentations along the coast has been abandoned and the road instead will be through a number of tunnels, one of them to be about 829 feet long, thus making several advantageous cutoffs. The construction from the lighthouse to Newport will be exceedingly heavy, as the cost of considerable mileage, it is estimated, will be at least $100,000 a mile. The location of the line between Lillooet and the vicinity of Fort George, a distance of 230 miles, is now in progress. There are two engineering parties in the field and additional parties are to follow. It is hoped to finish the permanent location before next fall. The work now being undertaken is on the lower section of the route north of Lillooet, actual construction on which is to be undertaken this summer. Eleven hundred men are now employed in the various camps along the route from Lillooet south along Seaton and Anderson lakes and beyond to Pemberton Portage.

JUDGE'S POLITICAL SPEECH.

Chief Justice Hunter's speech at the annual dinner of the Canadian Club last night was a flagrant violation of the canons of good taste. It was a sordid, political utterance and that it was so regarded was abundantly apparent from the prominence given to it by the morning paper, and the editorial benediction it elicited. The chief justice wholly aware that party political subjects are on the prohibition index of this organization, and, knowing this, it was his duty to refrain from taking sides in a controversy upon which the people of Canada are divided. We are not overlooking the well-known rule that shuts the door of political discussion to the judiciary in any circumstances, but in this instance we confine our criticism to the speech as delivered by a guest at a Canadian Club function. The response to the toast, "The Empire," which was entrusted to him, did not call for more than a passing impartial reference to the naval question, if it was necessary to refer to it at all, which we doubt; in fact he said scarcely anything about the empire except to lead to his special plea on behalf of the Borden naval proposal. It is strange indeed that the only inspiration His Lordship could get from the history, vastness and destiny of the British Empire took the form of the advocacy of a contribution of money to the Admiralty.

As for the speech itself it is unnecessary to give it more than brief attention. It is a repetition of the arguments of those supporting Mr. Borden's proposals which cover the pages of Hansard, all the party press and emanate from the "editorial preparation" factory at Ottawa. We do not question His Lordship's sincerity, but must express astonishment that one who, we presume, has given average consideration to the press reports of discussions in Canada and London, is frightened by the emergency scarecrow. And our respect for his opinions on the naval situation finds it difficult to resist his statement that Australia is justified in adopting the local navy plan because of possibilities from the Orient, while it is unnecessary for Canada at this juncture to adopt a similar course because "we are within a week's steaming from Europe." Mr. Churchill says the proposed Imperial squadron is to be stationed at Gibraltar, twenty-two days' sail from Esquimaux. The Chief Justice's argument for Australia can be applied with equal force to the Pacific Coast of Canada, and this has been freely pointed out by the Australians themselves. And notwithstanding this obvious fact the very contribution which His Lordship so enthusiastically endorses is going to carry with it, as a natural accompaniment, the repeal of the Canadian naval law and the abandonment of a policy designed to provide some measure of protection for this coast. The Chief Justice is under a sad misapprehension if he fancies his views embody sound Imperialism. They represent the doctrine of little Canadianism which arose, in the first instance, from the dishonorable repudiation of a compact and an equally dishonorable alliance between Mr. Borden and the avowed enemies of British connection for political purposes in the spring of 1910.

THE YOUNGEST REPUBLIC.

The inauguration of the first parliament of the world's youngest republic yesterday would remind us, were we prone to forget, that the Chinaman of today is a vastly different being from the Chinaman of yesterday. After centuries of turpitude, of moral and intellectual darkness, the old order has changed giving place to new. From whichever angle one views China, not only in her government, in her national life, her customs, her people, their appearance, clothing and outlook—there is change. At no time in their history have the Chinese shown such independence of thought and action as characteristics of their national life as at the present juncture. In the past John Chinaman has been the world's hewer of wood and drawer of water. He can still be found to-day far down in the mines of the Federated Malay States and of Java, in the shafts of the rickshaw of the Straits Settlements or Indo-China. Yet even there he has changed irrevocably. There is the ever present thought with him that some day when he has fulfilled the terms of his signed indenture he will go home and set up business for himself.

The Chinaman is emerging. In the very heart of his country the change is astounding. The new wine has been poured into old bottles without any harm to the bottles; the new form of government fits well, despite what has been previously thought and said, the oldest and most conservative race in the world. The hundreds of thousands of Chinamen who gathered in the capital yesterday and rent the air with their cheers, bespeak the change from stagnation and utter official hopelessness to an era of reform and enlightenment. What this great and unbreakable reform among the teeming millions of the Mongol race will mean, what effect it will have upon the world, the unwritten page has yet to show. Sufficient is it to hope that the new order of things will make for peace and real advancement in a land where the gods of war and ignorance have been idolized for forty centuries.

OUR TAX RATE.

The striking of a tax rate is an interesting proceeding. When, after a fanfare of trumpets, the grand herald proclaims the fact that the impost for the ensuing year will not exceed that of the preceding term, or it will be a shade lower, the announcement is hailed by the uninitiated with a gush of gratitude and a desire to perpetuate the fame of a noble administration with monumental busts in some appropriate place. But the gush of gratitude becomes a gulp of apprehension when they peer more closely into the situation. They then find themselves confronted with the disquieting paradox that although their tax rate remains the same they have to contribute more money to the civic chest. In other words their assessments are increased and the maintenance of the rate is merely a little spring pleasantry upon which they may expand their imagination.

This applies to Victoria. The prospects are that our tax rate will remain the same as it was last year, but our assessments will have to be increased about twenty per cent. that the city may raise enough money to cover its estimated expenditure. Our total outlay for the year will exceed two million dollars and we must raise through land taxation approximately $1,000,000. Now, we cannot do this at the old rate and retain the old assessment. We either have to keep the old rate and increase the assessment, or lower the rate and still more raise the assessment, or raise the tax rate and lower the assessment. Of the three alternatives the council will choose the first, having, like all councils, a traditional horror of an increased rate and likewise preferring to cling to the shell of reform in the hope that a trusting public will forget to look inside. Fortunately the council has operated the gullotine on our budget with commendable dispatch and effectiveness. Rigid economy is to be practiced in the next twelve months, otherwise we might have to suffer not only a radically increased assessment, but the raising of our cherished tax rate.

THE ICONOCLASTS.

After this no person in his senses can ever accuse the militant suffragettes of lack of versatility. Their iconoclasm has extended into every branch of man's life, into his sports, his work, his home and personal property. In their modes of attack they have been as resourceful as Napoleon or Hannibal, their collection of burglarious implements would make Charles Peace look like the veriest amateur, while the labyrinthine windings of their dark and deep-laid plots would have put Machiavelli to blush.

And now to crown all, the select committee of the militant order, the female Robespierre and Danton of this new revolution, have laid sacrilegious hands on the marriage service. The ring must go, is the mandate issued by their council; it is the badge of servitude, it is the badge of servitude, to which women are subjected in bearing the yoke of men. The high and mighty ones of the militant forces in London have looked into the service for the solemnization of matrimony and have sought and found therein indignities to their sex too great to be borne. "Fifteen moral humiliations" have been embodied in a manifesto and spread broadcast over the land. We predict that if ever the ceremony is in doubt according to the suffragette idea it will take more than a ten-ton cable to drag the reluctant gentlemen to the altar. Equality is the endless cry of the suffragette, and in these days it is generally accompanied in England with a bomb or a large rock or some other gentle missile of the persuasive order. Equality in the marriage service and in the domestic life that follows. We can picture the suffragette wife of coming years doing half the wage earning during the day, chopping half the wood, apportioning exactly half of the other household duties to her other half. It is a pretty picture of equal service that the new mandate conjures up, only we fancy that there will be no need to attempt to enforce the marriage service. Under those conditions there would be no marriage.

The real danger in Persia does not lie in the ex-shah or his brother. It lies in the fact that the country is slowly falling into utter anarchy, owing to the absence of any power in the capital capable of ruling the country. It has been insisted, over and over again, that this is the policy of Russia, and that Sir Edward Grey has become a party to it, not from any affection for it, but because he is as determinedly opposed as the government of India to the occupation of southern Persia, which would bring the boundaries of the United Kingdom and Russia face to face on an actually indefensible frontier. This policy of laissez faire is breeding its inevitable result—brigandage and the near prospect of partition.

Our contemporary persists in rattling the dry bones of the emergency. It is six months behind its party. The evolution of the emergency is one of the most remarkable phenomena of the age. It first became transmogrified into a "great need," then it became a "debt of gratitude," and now it is a "great preoccupation." Then, too, it was endowed with wonderful ubiquity. First it danced merrily on the North Sea. Mr. Churchill chased it away, and now it is flitting around the Empire. The Canadian and Maltese ships are to be organized into a world service squadron for the purpose of purchasing the emergency.

Mr. Borden's naval policy is the same as that of the Sultan of Persia. This personage is the ruler of the principal state of the Malay confederacy. He does not believe his country can build up an effective naval organization, and makes a contribution. Mr. Borden entertains the same views regarding Canada, and also makes a contribution. Each believes it would be less costly and hazardous to send the money across the Atlantic than to organize a navy.

Is war correspondence dead? The present war is the first instance since 1854 that newspaper correspondents have been excluded. The Balkan states and Turkey, for reasons that no sane man will question, have decided that a circle shall be drawn around their military operations. But it is

THURSDAY IS THE FOURTH DAY OF THE ONE-WEEK BEDDING SALE

OVER 100 bales of bedding were unloaded in the staple department last week, the greater portion of which should have reached us some time ago. Although most of these goods are required all the year round, yet we find our store space is quite inadequate to receive such a large shipment at this time. We are therefore having a week's bedding sale, with the object of reducing this stock. Those who require blankets, comforters, sheets, pillow cases, will find this a splendid opportunity to replenish their stocks with new season's goods, at a great saving in price. Here are a few of the interesting items:

Disaster to a romantic profession

Mortuus te salutat.

Suicide by aeroplane as accomplished recently by a Russian aviator will never be really popular because the expense of owning or even hiring an alrship is too great. The dead aviator has carried a dreadful fame by anticipating the writers of "thrillers" who have not yet caught on to that novel way of finding death dramatically.

The offer by the London Daily Mail of a prize of $50,000 for the passage of the Atlantic by a hydroaeroplane in seventy-two hours is not very attractive. It is estimated that the cost of construction and the incidental expenses would easily exhaust a much larger fund than that offered by the well-known journal.

According to an Eastern exchange, "a little drop, not much," was the reply of a foreign immigrant into the Dominion recently when asked if he could speak English. Is it Chaucer who is referred to as that well of English un-tilled?

One way to encourage international yacht racing would be to put the America's Cup in perpetual storage and begin trying for another. Sir Thomas Lipton has obviated that contingency, however, with his unconditional challenge, which deserves wide recognition as the act of a prince of sportsmen, anxious only for the welfare of the sport itself.

Powers aggregating more than 200,000,000 population are threatening to use their war forces to make Montenegro, with a total of 200,000 population, cease to war on Turkey, a country of 30,000,000. Truly a case of the lion and the mouse.

Whenever war operations begin to languish in other spheres, the blood-thirsty Mexicans may always be depended upon to fill in the gap.

BETRAYING OUR HERITAGE.

(Canadian Collier's)

The North Sea is no place for Canadian men-of-war. Helping our mother-in-law build fences around her farm while we have no fences around our own crops is not the part of a real husband. Canada is a wife. The Canadian citizen is her husband. His duty is to her first. What of British Columbia and the enormous form of the American public is wild spending. Public economy is a lost art. All bonanzas of municipalities are now refunded instead of being paid when due. The excuse for bond issue is always that posterity ought to bear part of public im-propriety. This is perhaps the meanest form of stealing ever invented, because it adds to the criminality of breach of trust the baseness of embezzling the future re-

SWEEPSTAKE HOLDERS ACCUSED OF LOTTERY

Salmon, Morris and Richardson All Summoned to Appear in Police Court

H. L. Salmon, E. A. Morris and Percy Richardson were served with summonses this afternoon charging each of them that they did on April 2 unlawfully manage a certain scheme, to wit, a sweepstake in a horse race srown on the Grand National for the purpose of determining the holders of what tickets were the winners of certain property, to wit, cash prizes proposed to be disposed of by lot, contrary to the criminal code of Canada.

As announced in the Times some weeks ago City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison and Chief Langley of the police force, determined at a conference that the law against lotteries would be henceforth enforced strictly in this city. Certain raffles in progress at that time were stopped and no opposition was offered. So far as is known there have been no raffles held since.

Although the article in the Times explained that sweepstakes would also be proceeded against the three proprietors of cigar stores named above held their annual sweepstakes on the Grand National sweepstake which was run on April 4. The selling of tickets closed on April 3 and the drawing took place on April 2. Without advertising their purpose the police took notice of what was going on from the first and detectives, under instruction from the chief, purchased tickets in all three sweepstakes.

Owing to the difficulty of proving all the facts necessary for procuring a conviction in sweepstake cases the police have had to proceed with profound secrecy and the preparation of their case has been done with great thoroughness.

The summonses are returnable tomorrow, but in all likelihood a remand will be asked to enable the defence to prepare its case.

 Girl Gets Year for Housebreaking—Another Fined $50 for Vagrancy.

Grace Stewart, charged with vagrancy, was fined $50 by Magistrate Jay this morning. In the event of her failure to procure this sum she will join a small excursion to New Westminster this afternoon, which is being personally conducted by Provincial Constable Owens, assisted by the city police matron.

Beattie L. Thames pleaded guilty before Judge Lampman this morning to the charge of housebreaking preferred against her at Oak Bay. Upon hearing the circumstances explained and the fact that the young woman was under suspended sentence at Vancouver for theft, the judge gave her a sentence of one year at New Westminster. She is also going on the excursion. The other lady passengers are Nellie Anderson, sentenced to three months for vagrancy, and Jeanette Pollock, sentenced to one month for supplying liquor to Indians. A W. PLAN TO CUT FOUR DAYS OFF SCHEDULE

Canadian-Australian Company's Officials Scheming to Make Voyage Shorter

EXTENSIVE ALTERATIONS TO BE MADE TO SERVICE

C. P. R. May Subsidize the Company; Trade Increases Very Rapidly

Although the new liner Niagara is to be added to the fleet of the Union Steamship Company coming to this port from the Antipodes, it is reported that still further improvements are to be made in the service. According to information which has just been received by the Times a proposition is now under way to reduce the time for the trans-Pacific voyage, and instead of passengers being at sea for 21 or 22 days the trip between Victoria and Sydney will be accomplished in 18 days. A dispatch from Auckland, N. Z., says that a prominent official of the company, is leaving there on the liner Makara, which sails to-morrow for this port, to investigate conditions and ascertain the possibilities of increasing the service. The official will also visit San Francisco and it is probable that the company's run from that port to the Antipodes will also be improved by the replacing of the present vessels by ships of greater speed and more commodious passenger accommodation.

The Canadian-Australian line, which is the name given to the fleet of steamships coming to Victoria from the Antipodes, will pay more attention in future to this service. It has been found that the business between Canada and the southern Dominions is an exceedingly profitable one, and further, one which, if enthusiastically cultivated and looked after is capable of producing far greater returns. The new liner Niagara is being added to the fleet replacing the Zealandia, and, as announced in the Times some months ago, the Union Steamship Company is now considering a proposal to duplicate the latest palatial steamship. These vessels will have a sea speed of nearly 20 knots, which is four knots faster than the boats now on the run, and consequently they will be able to cut down the time for the long sea trip.

It is reported that the C. P. R. contemplates entering into a working arrangement with the Union Steamship Company and will place a vessel on the run. Probably one of the Oriental Empresses might be used in the service. If the C. P. R. does not place a vessel in the service it is understood that it will subsidize the service so that it may be extended.

KENTRA IS SPOKEN DOCKS ON SATURDAY

Steamship Bound in From New York Off Cape Conception Yesterday

When passing Point Conception at 8 o'clock yesterday morning the big Maple Leaf liner Kentra, Capt. Turner, which is coming to Victoria from New York with a cargo of steel products, signalled that she would arrive at William Head early on Saturday morning. The freighter is 73 days on the voyage and has made only one stop during the long passage. She called in at La Union, Peru, last month to discharge a small shipment of freight.

This is the second trip the Kentra is paying to this port, and on both occasions she has been under charter to the Maple Leaf line, for which Evans, Coleman & Evans are agents. The freighter is bringing in nearly 1,000 tons of freight for this port, including 450 tons of rails for the B. C. Electric and material for the B. C. Marine railway. All the cargo will be discharged at the outer docks, and it is expected that she will be ready to clear for Vancouver about Tuesday of next week.

Tamba Maru in Port. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Tamba Maru, Capt. Teranaka, arrived in port from the Orient, and is discharging 600 tons of freight at this port. The Tamba brought in one of the largest passenger lists of the year. All told she had 21 passengers and 13 disembarked at

Despite the fact that the weather has been experienced in northern British Columbia for some weeks past the G. T. P. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. McKenzie, which arrived here this morning, fell into with a blinding snow storm while running between Prince Rupert and Granby Bay. It was one of the worst falls of snow that the big northern flyer has encountered since entering service on the coast. As soon as she got clear of Rupert harbor the steamer met the snow, and it was a menace to the navigators right up Observatory Inlet. When two miles from Granby Bay the sup peeped out and while the Rupert was lying at the northern miling centre the weather was fine. Coming south the snow storm was picked up in the same place, where she ran out of it on the way north. The snow storms were the only blind weather encountered during the trip, and despite the density of them the Rupert lost no time. Capt. LINER WITH TWO SKINS AT NEW YORK

S. S. OLYMPIE

Word was received here this morning by E. E. Blackwood, agent of the Northern Pacific, stating that the White Star liner Olympie reached New York before midnight last night, six days from Southampton. The renovated leviathan was piloted slowly across the Atlantic as this is the season when ice is prevalent on that ocean and no risks were taken. This is the first trip the Olympie has made since the extensive alterations were carried out at Belfast, Ireland, when an inner skin was built and the bulkheads were extended up to Deck B.

Steamer will sail north to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Things Moving at Granby. This was the first trip of the Prince Rupert to Granby Bay. She took quite a number of passengers into the northern port and the prospects are that there will be a big rush there very shortly. Officers of the steamer state that great preparations are now being made by the Granby Bay Smelter Company following the coming of spring, and within a short time things there will be in full swing.

Man Drowns Off George. A wireless message flashed to the Times this morning from Capt. Donald Harrice, master of the steamer Prince George, stated that Arthur Caravan, one of the deckhands on the vessel, fell overboard at 7 o'clock and was drowned. The George was steaming through Chatham Sound on her way from Victoria to Prince Rupert, when the accident happened. Capt. Donald at once stopped the steamer and had a boat lowered. For 20 minutes a search for the missing man was conducted, but nothing of him was seen. No particulars as to how the man came to fall into the water were contained in the wireless. Caravan was well known in Victoria.

EVERETT S. GRIGGS PASSES IN AT TATOOSH AFTER FINE TRIP After a 53-day passage up the Pacific from Calcutta, the British barquentine Everett S. Griggs, Capt. Steeling, passed in at Cape Flattery this morning bound for Seattle. She is the only six-masted of her type afloat and is well-known here.

The German ship Eliza Lihn, Capt. Pundt, left the Royal Roads this afternoon for Mukletso to load a cargo of lumber for Cape Town, S. A.

Last night the tug Lorne took the Norwegian barque Flugal, Capt. Hennegis, in tow and this morning went into the Fraser river on a high tide. The Flugal will load lumber on the Fraser for South Africa.

DERBY'S CARGO DISCHARGED. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the stevedores finished discharging the cargo of the tramp steamship Lord Derby, Capt. Buden, at this port were the following: P. Buden, L. W. Paynter, T. J. Elliott, S. A. Smith, A. Dengeas, Mrs. J. McKennell, G. Harris, Miss S. Robinson, N. Crosin, J. H. Smith, A. McLean, J. McKean, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lake and Miss C. Sullivan.

At 8 o'clock this morning the Pacific Coast steamship City of Puebla, Capt. Harrice, left the outer docks for San Francisco with a large list of passengers and all her cargo space filled. Among the passengers who embarked at this port were the following: P. Buden, L. W. Paynter, T. J. Elliott, S. A. Smith, A. Dengeas, Mrs. J. McKennell, G. Harris, Miss S. Robinson, N. Crosin, J. H. Smith, A. McLean, J. McKean, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lake and Miss C. Sullivan.

Transfer No. 3 Will Arrive at Esquimalt To-night to Try Out Slip, Just Completed

HAS CARS LOADED WITH FREIGHT FOR THIS CITY

Probability That Regular Service May Be Established Between Here and Vancouver

To try out the new barge slip at Esquimalt the C. P. R. transfer No. 3, in tow of the tug Qualicum, will reach the naval harbor late to-night, and to-morrow the freight cars will be run off on the siding. This is the first time in the history of the port that freight cars have been ferried across the gulf from Vancouver. The number of cars which the transfer is bringing is not known, but several of them contain machinery and material for the B. C. Marine Railway.

There is a strong probability that a car ferry service may be established between the Terminal City and Victoria in order to relieve the congestion on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway. H. E. Beasley, superintendent of the line, when asked this morning as to whether the service would be inaugurated, would neither give confirmation nor denial to the question, but intimated that this would probably be worked out in the end.

New Slip Just Finished. The new ferry slip at Esquimalt has just been completed, and the tracks and landing will be thoroughly tested to-morrow. The fact that a slip has been constructed is taken to indicate that the C. P. R. has intentions of starting a service. This new way of handling freight between the mainland and here would greatly relieve the situation on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo rails at the present time. So much freight now is transhipped across the gulf from Vancouver to Ladysmith that there is almost a steady stream of freight cars being hauled down to Victoria.

Three transfers are now operated by the C. P. R. in carrying freight cars to and from Ladysmith, and a fourth is in the course of construction at the yards of the B. C. Marine Railway. It is not known just when she will be ready for service.

Some announcement is expected very shortly in regard to the establishment of the car ferry service.

CANNERY SHIP IN BAD STORM. Ketchikan, Alaska, April 9.—The steamer Windbar, Captain H. E. Soule, arrived here yesterday afternoon from King Cove and Excursion Inlet, where the vessel unloaded cannery supplies.

On the return trip the vessel encountered a severe storm, and during the heavy laboring of the vessel a dynamo in the wireless room was torn loose, pounding heavily from side to side, smashing the wireless instruments and all the furniture in the room.

Mrs. H. E. Soule, wife of the captain, who is the wireless operator, left the room but a moment before, thus escaping probable injury. The Windbar is en route to Bellingham for another load of cannery supplies.

At 8 o'clock this morning the Pacific Coast steamship City of Puebla, Capt. Harrice, left the outer docks for San Francisco with a large list of passengers and all her cargo space filled. Among the passengers who embarked at this port were the following: P. Buden, L. W. Paynter, T. J. Elliott, S. A. Smith, A. Dengeas, Mrs. J. McKennell, G. Harris, Miss S. Robinson, N. Crosin, J. H. Smith, A. McLean, J. McKean, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lake and Miss C. Sullivan.

The best passage on record from Vancouver to Boston was made by the British freight steamer Indraghiri in 26 days recently, on which voyage this vessel brought 7,000,000 cigars in her cargo from Manila.

In the month of January last 3,482 vessels, measuring altogether 668,246 registered tons net, used the North Sea and Baltic canal, against 2,794 ships and 57,017 tons in January, 1912, and the dues collected amounted to $7,656 marks, against 248,445 marks.

AROUND THE SHIP CHANDLER'S STOVE

FROM BURNING SHIP TO BLINDING BLIZZARD.

"I remember in 1906 when the good old British full-rigged ship Agnes, was on a voyage from South Shields to Valparaiso with a cargo of coke, she took fire off Cape Horn, and only eleven men of a crew of thirty were saved. This came from an old sea dog down at the ship chandler's this morning, who had been listening to the yarns of a number of seafaring pals. The vessel was in latitude 52° south and longitude 75° west, when a fire was found to have broken out under the main hatch. The old man had the hatches removed, and sent the second officer and half a dozen men below to locate the fire. The men were overcome in the hold by the suffocating fumes, and had to be dragged on deck. The skipper ordered the hatches battened down again, and tried to keep the fire from breaking loose until he was able to reach some South American port.

"It was not long before the port side became red hot and volumes of smoke filled the cabin and fore-castle, and the crew was forced to take up quarters on the poop. The men aboard worked hard to get the fire under control, but in spite of their efforts the fire gained on the ship. The old man ordered all the men to come aft, and just as I was standing near the wheel a terrific explosion took place. The main hatch was blown almost as high as our top-gallant yards, and the ship shook like a leaf. When the air came in contact with the smouldering fire in the hold burst into flames, and the skipper being that we could not hold out much longer ordered the ship's boat provisioned and manned. By this time both sides of the ship were red hot and life on deck was unbearable.

"All of us took places in the boats, excepting the captain, second mate, sailmaker and bosun. For three days the boats towed along behind us. The weather held fair, so we were in no danger. The old man had headed the ship for Cape Horn, which was about 65 miles off, when he saw that she would not hold out much longer. When the deck became so hot that the feet of the men almost blistered and their faces were scorched, they abandoned the ship and took to the boats.

"In the captain's boat were ten men and a dog, in addition to the skipper; twelve men were in the mate's boat, and five men accompanied the second mate. The captain gave the course to Cape Horn. We hoisted sail, headed for land. Within a short time of leaving the ship had water set in and in a blinding snowstorm the boats got separated. I was in the captain's boat and we were fortunate to fall in with a ship. We signalled her and her skipper brought her up to the wind and waited for us to row over to the ship, which turned out to be the American clipper ship Aryan, and she took us to San Francisco.

"That night the storm increased to a hurricane and lasted for four days. A sharp lookout was kept for the other boats, but no trace of them was seen. They no doubt perished in the hurricane, as I have never heard anything about them since."

WIRELESS WAVES FOR SEACOAST LIGHTS

A German inventor, Grimmelien, claims to have found a method for using wireless waves in the best manner for lighting up distant lamps, either electric or gas lamps, by the use of an accurately tuned wireless receiver at each lamp so that it is sensitive to only one wave pitch and no others. The wireless waves act upon a receiver combined with a local relay for working an electromagnetic switch so as to turn on the current or gas as the case may be. The celestial rays in the close tuning of the receivers so that only a given wave frequency will work them. The device will thus be a valuable one for sea-coast lights, and especially for light buoys.

Working Arrangement With Suburban Municipalities Has Been Reached

The agreement of the city with the outside municipalities for the treatment of patients at the Isolation hospital and the supervision of infectious disease cases in the suburban districts, in order that a uniform system may be set up for dealing with infectious diseases throughout the district, came before a meeting of reeves and health officers.

This agreement, which places Dr. Hall in the position of assistant health officer to the officers of the respective municipalities so far as infectious diseases are concerned, was fully discussed on Monday, and the result of yesterday's meeting will be that the agreement will be submitted to the inter-municipal committee on Friday for approval, subject to confirmation by the respective municipalities.

Under the arrangement the city secures that control over the supervision of contagious diseases in the suburbs which is required for the protection of Victoria citizens, and the outside municipalities retain the responsibility for the prevention and cure in their respective areas. The city continues in control of the Isolation hospital, for the first cost of which it provided, the fees charged to patients being restricted to the actual cost of medical attention.

PASSING SHOW

Empress Theatre.
Those three stunning little Creighton girls at the Empress theatre in their busy dancing and singing act appear in many different costumes among them the old-fashioned crinolines that the grandmothers of to-day used to wear. The girls of their act that gets across the footlights best in their bright dancing and in this they excel. Another sprightly turn is that of the black and white girls, who are as acrobatic as most men who present similar turns. Patrons of the theatre can this week enjoy a comedy by George Ade played with vim by James F. Fulton and Mattie Choate. There are the acts of the Taubert sisters and Paul, expert xylophonist, and Alfred Kelcey, who proves a real patter entertainer.

"Prince of Pilsen."
The Victoria Theatre will revert on April 15 to musical comedy, and will offer the Pixley and Luder's musical play, "The Prince of Pilsen," which is perhaps the best example of this style of stage work of American authorship. It combines elements that are rarely provided in anything like equal degrees of excellence—a wholly delightful musical setting and a genuinely humorous story placed in an atmosphere of romance and poetry. "Jesse" Dandy will again play the role of Hans Wagner, the Cincinnati brewer, who on a visit to Nice is acclaimed the Prince of Pilsen. Lottie Kendall will be the vivacious widow.

Majestic Theatre.
A marvelous Micro X ray film showing "the circulation of the blood" and the heart of man pictured in action. This film is reproduced in vivid animation by means of modern scientific photography. "The Dean's Daughters," show the dean's elder daughter taking upon herself the avenging of a supposed wrong upon her younger sister who has foolishly thought herself in love with a famous artist. "Art and Honor," showing the eternal triangle. "The Tribler," an excellent love story. "A Delivery Package," a comedy. "The Power of the Camera." A motion picture camera plays a part in the escape of convicts. This excellent programme is being shown to-day and Thursday.

CHICKEN HOUSE ON FIRE.

Blaze at Cedar Hill Fought With Chemicals, Then With Water.
The Dunedin street fire company was called yesterday evening to Day & Roberts' chicken house, Cedar Hill, where an overturned lamp had caused a fire. As the hose was not long enough to reach the fire, the men fought it with the chemical engine till the Fernwood Company came. With the additional hose plenty of water was secured, and the blaze was confined to the chicken house, stables adjacent being saved.

WILL TELL OF THE EAST

Colonel Bullard Assisted in Salvation Army Work in India Generation Ago.

Colonel Bullard, who is visiting Canada in the interests of missionary work, assisted in the inauguration of the work of the Salvation Army in India a generation ago. He will lecture here on Friday on India, Japan and Corea, and on Saturday on "Incidents of travel in many lands." On Sunday afternoon he will appear in Japanese costume and give a lecture entitled "Japan, its customs, national characteristics, missionary work, and the progress of the Salvation Army." He will exhibit a number of curios. There will be a Salvation meeting on Sunday evening. The colonel will be accompanied by Brigadier and Mrs. Green, of Vancouver.

The stereoscopic slides which the colonel uses have been widely praised throughout the Dominion wherever he has delivered this lecture. They were made in Japan by a special process of tinting, and give an excellent conception of the customs and manners of the country.

DIVISION OF COST TO FOLLOW DECISION

Contributions to Johnson Street Bridge Will Be Determined Shortly

The decision of the Dominion Department of Public Works to construct the new Johnson street bridge of a bascule type, with 200-foot span for navigation, will enable the engineers to go to work with the plans for this important public undertaking. There will be another meeting shortly of the representatives of the various interests on this subject.

The next question will be the division of the cost among the various interests, and in that connection the city will probably be asked to submit a by-law as soon as the share which the citizens are to bear is known. The Canadian Pacific railway has consented to expend as much as it would cost to put a good bridge across the Arm at this point, though no precise amount has been settled. The government's share is provided for in the appropriations of the year, and the other interests which may reasonably expect to contribute will supply the balance.

The Laurel Point bridge scheme has practically died since the government and railway companies have declined to regard it as part of the development scheme for the old reserve. The attention of the engineers will be concentrated on the Johnson street bridge, as an essential part of the numerous works contemplated at this point. The city authorities would be glad to know what action is proposed to be taken with regard to the raising of the level of the road at the west side of the Point Ellice bridge for the Canadian Northern railway tracks, and what difference it will make to the roadway leading to Victoria West. When traffic is diverted by the new bridge the whole character of this district will probably change.

IS NOT DUMPING GROUND

Authorities Object to Use of High School Grounds as Rubbish Depository.

The city authorities would be glad if the public would respect the prohibitory notices of the works department against dumping rubbish to fill in the high school grounds. It is a work of questionable assistance to the city owing to the fact that the city is bound under agreement to the school board to fill up the gaps with suitable material and to place a layer of clay over all. It is believed that by the time the land is levelled and terraced the city will not require to place much more material thereon before the clay surface is added and the work completed.

It will not be possible to complete the work satisfactorily until the contractors have finished their work on the buildings, which, of course, will not be for some months yet. The date by which the grading should have been done has long since expired.

WILL SELECT CONSTABLE

Spanish Council Will Meet This Evening to Make Appointment.

A meeting of the Spanish council this evening will be held to appoint a constable, for which there are 24 applications. Most of the men have been in the army, and one or two have been in the London Metropolitan police force. A resident of the district will probably be selected. The successful man will be required to reside in Ward Two.

HOME HELPS TO HEALTH AND BEAUTY

FOR IMPURE BLOOD—That drowsy, tired, "worn-out" feeling which most of us have at the approach of warm weather comes from the poisoned impurities in the blood, which generally lead to sickness or poor health. At the first signs of spring a good, blood-purifying tonic should be taken by every member of the family. The process of making such a tonic will be small if one gets from the drug store half pint alcohol and 1 ounce karene, then mix these with half cupful sugar, adding hot water to make a quart. A tablespoonful taken before meals will soon clear the blood of all impurities, banish pimples and sallowness and restore lost appetite and energy. No known remedy is so strengthening and energizing to a tired, "worn-out" system as this old-fashioned body regulator. It is one of the best health restorers known to medical science.

FOR ITCHY, OILY SCALPS—This shampoo makes the head feel good, cleanses scalp and hair, stops itching and corrects dandruff and oiliness: Dissolve one teaspoonful canthox in a cup of hot water, and as you pour a little at a time on the head, massage briskly. This creates a wealth of white, thick, cleansing lather, and rinsing leaves the scalp exquisitely clean, while the hair dries quickly and is soft, glossy and easy to do up. Occasional shampooing will induce a healthy growth of hair.

USE INSTEAD OF FACE POWDER—No matter how lovely the complexion may be, a spumax face-lotion will lend an added charm. This lotion is easily made at home. Just stir two teaspoonfuls glycerine into a half-pint hot water or witch hazel, then add four ounces spumax and apply to face, neck and arms, rubbing lightly until it vanishes, and the skin will be soft and velvety. This spumax face-lotion rids the skin of pimples and blackheads, as well as dispels oiliness and sallowness. When on it seems part of your glowing skin rather than an application and it does not rub off.

ROBINSON WILL TAKE ON BURNS

Willing to Bet $1,000 on Bout With Joe Bayley for the Title

Charlie Stadfast states that he will take on Frankie Burns, who has challenged Joe Bayley at any distance, and also that he is willing to match his boy to the extent of $1,000 against Bayley for the lightweight championship of Canada. Stadfast is willing to take any kind of a chance to get his boy before the public, and has issued a challenge broadcast to work Robinson into the limelight. So far he has not heard from Manager Condon, but Stadfast will go ahead and endeavor to arrange a bout with Barriean, Moore, Sealer, Hyland, Burns or Champion Bayley.

Burns wrote to a Vancouver sporting editor and offered to wager up to $1,000 for a ten or twenty-round bout for the championship. The matter is now before Manager Condon, Barriean and Moore fight on April 16, at Nanaimo, the boys to make 133 pounds five hours before the fight.

Los Angeles, April 9.—There will be no championship tilt in Los Angeles on July 4 between Willie Ritchie, lightweight title-holder, and Joe Rivers, the challenger. This is the announcement of Billy Nolan, the champion's manager, who has scratched Los Angeles off his list.

WILL TOUR ANTIPODES.

American Track Team to Visit Australia at Early Date.

San Francisco, Cal., April 9.—The invasion of Australia by an American track and field team has been arranged to take place at an early date.

The Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, America's supreme governing body of amateur athletics, through its secretary and treasurer, James E. Sullivan, has received an invitation from the New Zealand A. A. U. to send an all-American team to New Zealand and Australia to compete against the cream of the athletes of these lands of the Southern Cross. Mr. Sullivan placed entirely in Mr. William Unmack's hands the organization, development and management of a team for the invasion in question.

SOCCER FINAL.

What will be the final match of the season for the Y. M. C. A. footballers will be played on Saturday afternoon at Beacon Hill, against the Empress Club. The Association will form a strong cricket eleven this summer and preparations for the cricket season are now under way.

SEVENTY-FIVE FOOTER CHOICE

Lipton Announces His Craft for America Cup Contest in 1914

British yachtsmen believe that since Sir Thomas Lipton declares in the unconditional challenge his intention to enter a 75-footer, the American syndicate must build a boat of approximately the same length. To exercise their freedom of terms given them by the deed of gift of competing with a 90-footer would be considered unsportsmanlike.

The cablegram transmitted to the New York Club reads as follows: "I have the honor to inform you that the Royal Ulster Yacht Club has received the following communication from Sir Thomas Lipton: 'Although your opinion differ from those of the New York Yacht Club as to the meaning of deed of gift, in the interests of yachting, and with a view to eliminating any possible source of discord, I shall be glad if you will inform the New York Yacht Club that I withdraw all stipulations as to the size of the yacht defending the America Cup and I look forward to a good race with my 75-footer in 1914.'—(Signed) Thomas J. Lipton."

FOUGHT A DRAW.

Joe Rivers and Leach Cross in Stirring Battle.

New York, April 9.—Joe Rivers, the Mexican lightweight, and Leach Cross, of this city, who met here two months ago in a bout in which Rivers had a decided advantage, fought ten rounds to a draw here last night. Cross put up a surprisingly good fight, and his improvement over his previous showing was marked. It looked at first as if he had been weakened by making the required weight—he was down to 132½ rineside—but in the late rounds he showed up stronger than his opponent. Rivers weighed in at 133. Rivers had the advantage in the first, second, third and fifth rounds. The fourth and sixth were about even, with both men fighting hard. The four remaining rounds went to Cross. In these Rivers appeared to slow up and was inclined to clinch, while the New Yorker took the aggressive.

BEAVERS WON AGAIN.

Bert Hall Held Colored Giants to Five Hits.

Vancouver, B. C., April 9.—Vancouver took the famous colored Giants of Chicago, down the line again yesterday, winning a well-played game by the score of 5-1. Brilliant fielding and timely hitting behind Bert Hall's effective pitching enabled the Beavers to turn the trick, and they outplayed the visitors at every angle of the game. Walsh made his first appearance in a Vancouver uniform, and besides fielding his position brilliantly, made two hits, driving in three of Vancouver's runs. Score: R. H. E. Vancouver 5 11 0 Giants 1 5 1 Batteries—Hall and Lewis; Dougherty and Petway.

TWO-HOUR BOUT.

Berg and Grimm Unable to Secure a Fall.

Seattle, April 9.—After two hours of strenuous endeavor, in which neither was able to secure a fall, the wrestling match between John Berg and Polly Grimm was declared a draw by referee Oscar Marbet last night. The men entered the ring with Berg weighing 175 pounds and Grimm 215, but despite the disparity in size, the men were very evenly matched. Berg's agility and wider knowledge of the wrestling game more than making up for the greater strength of his opponent.

NORTHWESTERN TEAMS READY

Seattle Beats Sailors, While Tacoma Runs Up Big Score

Seattle, April 9.—Seattle won from the all-star navy team yesterday in their annual game by a score of 14 to 0. Charlie Fullerton pitched well for Seattle.

Spokane, Wash., April 9.—Gordon or Kraft will pitch the opening game for the Indians at Recreation park Tuesday afternoon, April 15. They are both in excellent physical condition and ready.

Grant's Pass, Ore., April 9.—The Pippins played Grant's Pass yesterday and won easily. Callahan, Cooney and Eastley divided the pitching yesterday. Spears will be a big help to Williams' outfield and with Ferris, Mahoney, Cunningham, Porter, Cullen and Waltrics trying out it will be a pretty fight to see who attacks to the regulars.

Tacoma, Wash., April 9.—The Tigers defeated the Cushman Indian school yesterday 12 to 1. The team is gradually rounding into shape and it looks as if the present lineup would start the season. McGinnity announced yesterday he would be unable to pitch the first game of the season because of a stone bruise on his right heel, which keeps him from running.

ALASKA RACE WILL BE RUN ON THURSDAY

Nome, Alaska, April 9.—The entry list closed yesterday for the all-Alaska sweepstakes dog team race, the great event of dog-racing circles, which will start on Thursday over the snow trail from Nome to Candle and return, a total distance of 42 miles. Five teams have been entered. They are those owned by Mrs. C. E. Darling, of Berkeley, and A. A. (Scotty) Allen; Russell Bowen and Fay Delzene; John Johnson, Max Gottschalk and Illoyak, a native driver. The Darling-Allen dogs, which won the races in 1911 and 1912, will be driven by Allen, who is the favorite in the betting. The weather is clear and cold, the finest possible for making fast time over the trail. The record for the 42 miles is held by John Johnson, who won the 1912 race in 74 hours, 4 minutes and 14 seconds. Allen's time last year was 87 hours and 22 minutes.

JOE RIVERS Who fought a draw with Leach Cross at New York last night.

REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Real Test for the Bees This Afternoon. Against a team, the playing ability of which is well known, Mike Lynch and his Victoria club will have their strength tested this afternoon in regal style. The Bees had a particularly easy time disposing of the semi-pro clubs who filled in the training season and the fans have been aching for an opportunity of seeing the Bees work against a team that will make the locals exert themselves. This colored team, unless the dope goes badly astray, will give Lynch and his hired help all the exercise they need, and it will be a big feather in the cap of the Bees if they can outscore the Giants. Charlie Brooks will be missed both at bat and in the field, but Lynch hopes to have a sufficient edge on the Giants in the twirling line to keep the colored ball-tossers off the base paths.

Rucker Likes the Pirates in the National. This is the season of the year, when stars on second division clubs like to pick their favorites for the flag. Most of the critics pick New York to rush through to another pennant, but here is a veteran who likes the Smoky City team. Rucker picks Pittsburgh to win out in the National League this year. Nap says their pitching staff should bring them out ahead without such a strong team behind them, for where else can you find such a string of twirlers as Camnitz, Adams, Hendrix, Robinson and O'Toole?

Oak Bay Will Make an Ideal Lacrosse Field. With the improvements that are talked of there is no reason why Oak Bay should not make a big hit with the fans as the home of the professional lacrosse club. John Virtue states that bleachers will be erected on the far side of the field from the grand stand, and that the field will be made narrower to bring the play closer to the spectators. In addition, the present stand will be renovated. Mr. Virtue has bigger plans for 1914 but prefers to deal with the accommodation for the ensuing season first. The Royal Athletic park was talked of, but the inducements at Oak Bay were so much better that the lacrosse meguls could hardly turn the B. C. Electric down. All that the fans now need worry about is a team capable of holding its own in the league, and Lionel Yorkie has wired assurance from Ottawa that such an aggregation will wear the Victoria jerseys this summer.

MAJOR LEAGUE BALL ON CARD

Brooklyn Opened New Grounds With Great Eclat Against Phillies To-day

New York, April 9.—Under a brilliant April sun, major league baseball got a running start for 1913 to-day with the official opening of the National League season at Ebbetts' field in Brooklyn, toward which fans began to flock at an early hour for the initial clash of the big league baseball year.

By the grace of the baseball powers that be, the Brooklyn club, so that its new field might be fittingly dedicated, was permitted to have an opening day to itself, properly assisted, of course, by a visiting team, Philadelphia. Not until tomorrow will the games be on in the big double circuit as a whole, teams of the National and American leagues meeting then in the usual full complement of eight cities.

Manager Dahlen planned to pit "Nap" for the "big crack" left-hander, against Philadelphia's fittest. The indicated selection of Manager Dooin was Chalmers. President Lynch of the National League assigned Klem and Orth to umpire the game. President Ebbetts, of Brooklyn, had a band out early and a flag-raising and other opening day ceremonies for his fine new park were arranged for the benefit of the loyal home enthusiasts.

COLLEGE STARS LOOK FOR WIN OVER AMERICANS

London, England, April 9.—The athletic authorities at Oxford and Cambridge are busily engaged in picking out their star track and field men to send to America to compete against the teams of Yale and Harvard at the international meet to be held at Cambridge, Mass., early in June. At a recent Oxford-Cambridge meet in London several athletes qualified as members of the team to be sent to the other side of the Atlantic.

Athletic experts in England are sure they have point winners in D. Gordon Davies of Cambridge, A. N. S. Jackson of Oxford and H. S. O. Ashington of Cambridge. Others who have shown marked ability are Will Zeigler, Ural versty of Iowa and Oxford; J. D. H. Crossley of Oxford and D. M. Ganssen of Oxford. Zeigler is a Rhodes scholar from America. He won the hammer and shot put events at the meet.

Jackson is the athlete who showed his heels to all the world's crack miler at the Olympic games in Stockholm last July. Davies is picked to win the 100 and 440 yard events. At the recent meet he came within a fraction of the world's record for the quarter mile. Ashington is picked as the winner of the hurdle races.

FIRST CONTEST FOR COAST HONORS BILLED THIS WEEK

Victoria West eleven, champions of the Island, will meet the B. C. Electric of Vancouver, on Saturday at Oak Bay for the B. C. championship and the McBride shield. Manager Youson is confident that his men can defeat the Terminal City champions and bring the shield to Victoria. There will be one change on the line-up. Johnny Peters, the peppery little forward, will take Stan O'Reil's place, as the latter is going away on a vacation. The easy manner in which the Wests triumphed over the All-Stars recently shows that they are capable of giving the Electric men a hard run for the title. The Wests will also meet the Port Alberni eleven on April 25 in an exhibition game. The Port Alberni team are champions of the upper Island.

A Vancouver man will handle the game Saturday while a Victoria referee will handle the whistle on the 19th, when these teams meet again in Vancouver. The Wests will line up as follows: Goal, Robertson; fullbacks, Whyte and Prevost; halfbacks, McDonald, Pettitrew and Stewart; forwards, Sheritt, Youson, McDonald, Peden and Baker. Kick off at 3 o'clock.

An All-Wool Motor Rug Will Look Well in Your New Car

Our shipment of motor rugs has just arrived, in good time to join you in your new car. We are showing a few in our middle window to-night, representative of our large collection. You'll want to see these.

An All-Wool English Velour $20 to $22.50

You won't beat this for value. Velour looks as warm as it is, and as warm as it looks. We are showing these rugs in brown, tan and other good plain colors with tartan on the reverse—a proper rug for the car.

A line on which we have been complimented is our English, Scotch and Irish all-wool reversible rugs in several Scotch tartans—all named. Remember, it is still a little early to be driving without a rug, even by day, and they will be appreciated later on when the evenings are chilly. Get one now, but get one that will last.

MANY BOUTS TO BE STAGED FOR BAYLEY'S TITLE

Many lightweights are heading for the coast. Fighting Dick Hyland and Kid Scaler will meet at Stevenson the end of this month, while Buddy Unholtz, the Boer lightweight, is also after a match in this section of the country. Manager Stadfast, who has Red Robinson under his wing, is willing to meet them all, and it is probable that Robinson will be matched with the winner of the Hyland-Scaler bout. Just now there is a grand chance to permanently settle all aspirants for Joe Bayley's crown. Moore and Barriean meet at Nanaimo on April 17, while the Scaler-Hyland bout comes a week later.

Red Robinson is anxious to meet either Hyland or Scaler, to give him a chance to show himself. By the end of the month the list of eligibles will be pretty well narrowed down and it will be up to Manager Condon to sweep the decks with the remainder by having Bayley wade through the bunch.

J. B. A. A. SQUAD HARD AT WORK FOR BIG MEET

Billy Davies says that he will have the finest boxing card of the year on April 26, when the J. B. A. A. tournament will be pulled off at the Victoria theatre. The following local boys are now in training for the event: Boxing.

108 lbs., Al Davies; 115 lbs., Albert Gerrard; 125 lbs., Donald McKay, C. Motheral, S. Cropper; 135 lbs., Bob Myers, Harry Motheral; 145 lbs., Harry Willis, Gunner Brown; 155 lbs., J. Carroll. Matches arranged, 155 lbs., F. Gallagher vs. C. Frey, Heavy, Jack Ross vs. Earl McKenzie.

Manager Hughie Jennings has announced the probable line-up for his Tigers in the opening game at St. Louis, April 10. Every place but second is fully decided upon. If Cobb reports, as is expected, the team will bat as follows: Bush, short-stop; Vitt or Louden, second base; Crawford, right field; Cobb, centre field; Veach, left field; Gainer, first base; Deal, third base; Stange, catcher; Millin, pitcher. In case Cobb should not come in, Powell will play centre, batting second. If Gainer is not well, Morinarity will play first base.

NEW BALL GROUND RUMOR AGAIN STARTLES THE FANS

Another Possible Site Inspected; Chicago Giants Here Today and To-morrow

A rumor that the Victoria Baseball Club will purchase grounds of its own for next year gathered strength this morning when a couple of the directors of the Bees paid a visit to Oak Bay and inspected a site. The club's lease on the present grounds will run out in three more years, and the management is looking about for a permanent home for the ball team. Nothing definite has yet been done, but several locations are in view and it is possible that the management will take an option or lease on suitable property, before the end of this season.

Play This Afternoon. Mike Lynch sent Dutch Kautleber to the mound against the Chicago Giants for this afternoon's ball game at the Royal Athletic park, and the Bees look for a win with the "smoke" port side on the hill. The Giants arrived from Vancouver by this morning's boat and are a pretty hefty looking bunch of ball players. Patway, the catcher whom Connie Mack calls the best backstop in baseball, looks the goods, while every member of the team is a big man.

Great difficulty was experienced in securing accommodation for the team, several of the leading hotels turning the Giants down because of their color. Arrangements were finally made, however, to put the team up during their stay in the Capital.

Hap Morse will probably play first base, Charlie Brooks having announced that under no conditions will he play against the Giants. Brooks is a Southerner and that means everything to him.

To-morrow afternoon, Dick Kaufman will be worked and the growing feeling is that Kiddo Wilson will be Lynch's choice when the Bees open at Seattle next Tuesday afternoon. The veterans have all been twirling in grand style of late, and Lynch will have the best conditioned staff of twirlers in the league when the bell taps at Seattle.

Wilson's Yannigans failed to shove a run across the plate yesterday afternoon, the Regulars winning 7 to 0. Schultz hurled in the form for the Bees, while Kaufman was hit in the pinches. It was a good game of ball, and showed up the Northwestern Leaguers as a team of strong batting, steady pitching and sensational fielding strength.

MANAGER YORKE SIGNS STARS IN THE EAST

Hockey Players Will Join Lacrosse Squad; Jones to Have Salaried Team

Lionel Yorke has been successful in rounding-up a raft of lacrosse players for the Victoria professional club and in a wire to John Virtue, owner of the local club, the Victoria manager says that before the end of the month he will have a whole professional team working out at Oak Bay. A. E. Bannerman, who handled the Ottawa Capitals last year, will also come to the coast, though it is not probable that he will take an active part in the running of the local club.

Local Players Also. The refusal of the Big Four to recognize the N. L. U. and also the fact that the Dominion Lacrosse Association will not expand to six clubs, has given Yorke a chance to gather up his players, and the Victoria enthusiasts may look for a team that will be fully as strong as either Westminster or Vancouver before the season gets under way. Then the Victoria magnate is figuring on using a couple of the local amateurs as well as Sifner Poulin, the hockey star, and also Bobby Rowe and Don Ross, who will turn out with the pro's.

Con-Jones has decided that he will not try the percentage basis this year, but that he will pay his men a straight salary. He expects to be able to buy a few players from the Big Four clubs, as well as effect a couple of trades that will give Vancouver a winning team. The Vancouver magnate announces that the players will not have to worry; he is going to assume all risks as in the past, pay fixed wages to his help and try and weld together a team that will bring the Minto Cup to Vancouver.

New Westminster, April 9.—New Westminster lacrosse club are not generally in favor of the formation of a commission to govern the game along the lines suggested. Chief among the local objections is the fear that such a commission will not recognize the Minto cup as the championship trophy of the game.

SHAMROCK IV WILL CAPTURE AMERICA CUP

London, April 9.—"The luck will all be with us this time. The challenger is the four-leaved Shamrock, while the New York Yacht Club will be defending the America's cup for the thirtieth time," said Charles E. Nicholson to-day. Nicholson is to design the Lipton boat which will seek to win back for the British the America's cup. This will not be Nicholson's first connection with the contests for the cup.

MUST ACCEPT. London, April 9.—Sir Thomas Lipton, the British yachtsman, sent yesterday an unconditional challenge for a series of races for the America's cup to the New York Yacht Club, and after ten years' undisturbed possession of the trophy American yachtsmen must again prepare to defend it.

New York, April 9.—A special meeting of the New York Yacht Club probably will be called to act upon Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for a match for America's cup. Announcement was made last night that the challenge had been received. A meeting of the flag officers of the club will be held, it was stated, to decide whether a special meeting should be called or whether the challenge should go over until the next regular meeting, May 15.

AMATEUR STARS ON THE DIAMOND

Moose Club Will Have a Strong Team This Year

The Moose baseball club will be strong contenders for the Island League championship this season.

Another amateur pitcher has gone up beside Bobby Steele. He is Rex Dawson, of Chemainus. He pitched in a sensational manner for Vancouver against the Chicago Giants.

It shows that the Beacon Hill ball team were some hitters. Last year they could hit Dawson, the Chemainus boy, with ease.

The Gravin brothers will be back in time to get into uniform for the baseball season shortly.

Theo. Townsley will don the mask behind the bat for the Beacon Hill seniors. He may also take his turn on the slab.

Capitals will be organized again this year. Last season they made a desperate attempt to capture the intermediate trophy.

Beacon Hill team champions of the Island will have the same team this season as the last. All the boys have decided to stay together.

It is near time the North Ward and Victoria West clubs were entering in the baseball leagues.

BOWLERS LEAVE FOR TOURNAMENT.

Victoria's bowling entries for the Vancouver bowling tournament, which is now in progress, left last night for the Terminal City. They will bowl today and to-morrow. The congress opened on Monday evening, showing a list of entries of forty-seven teams in the five-men event and sufficient entries in the double and single events to provide a prize list of proportions which might do credit to a similar gathering of national scope.

In addition to the local teams entered, there are 150 bowlers from Seattle, Spokane, Wenatchee, Portland, Kamloops, Calgary and cities of the Pacific Coast and Middle Western states and provinces represented in the meet.

MANY ENTRIES FOR BENCH SHOW.

Two hundred entries have been received for the annual Bench Show of the Victoria Kennel Club, which will be held on April 15, 17 and 18. Jack Wolfenden and T. P. McConnell went to Seattle yesterday in connection with the show and the latter is immensely pleased with the prospects. He says that the Seattle show has better arrangements than at Frisco.

ALL-STARS WON.

Victoria's All-Star basketball five defeated Courtenay 33 to 12 at Courtenay last night in the second game of their tour in quest of the Island championship. The team, which plays Comox to-night, is composed of the following players: Brynjolfson, Brown, Whyte, Houston and MacDonald.

"Captain," said a wealthy passenger who was about to take his first trip across the ocean, "I understand this ship has got several water-tight compartments."

"Yes, sir," was the reply. "Captain," the passenger went on decidedly, "I want one of those compartments—I don't care what it costs."—Chicago Record-Herald.

CAN STAY ALOFT FOUR WHOLE DAYS

Zeppelin Airship, Used by Germany, is a Marvellous Vessel

CAN SAIL FEARLESSLY THROUGH DARK AND FOG

Military Expert Discusses the Chances of Mysterious Airships Being Zeppelins

The military expert of the Standard says: The theory generally put forward that the mysterious airships which have been scaring the British are German is being disputed on the ground that it would be impossible for any dirigible to cross from Germany unobserved if it arrived over the English coast as early as 9 or 10 p. m.

To get there at that hour the vessel would have to start in the daylight, and it is contended that somebody would be certain to see and report its flight. Suppose that the vessel in question is a Zeppelin, and that it starts from Heligoland. The distance between that island and Grimsby is just over 300 miles. It is known that the ship can make 60 miles an hour under favorable conditions, and with the east winds, that have prevailed of late they would be very favorable.

It would be possible, then, for the vessel to make Germany's five hours. Starting at 4 p. m., it would be over the English coast at 9, and the first hour or hour and a quarter of the journey would be made in daylight.

But it would be the grey, fog-impregnated daylight of a winter's day. The vessel would shoot up into it silently and quickly, and in a moment or two would merge its own grey shape into its grey surroundings and become invisible to anyone on earth.

No Air Terrors. That is where the airship scores over the aeroplane, "it can sail fearlessly in the dark and the fog. Delicate instruments show the altitude at which the ship is moving, the compass gives the direction, and the air contains no obstacles to navigation like the sea, no uncharted rock, no shifting sands, and air-currents have no terrors for the huge and powerful Zeppelins. There will be drift, of course, but it may be that the navigators of the Zeppelins possess instruments which enable them to make allowance for that as they go along. In any case the course kept would be so straight as to bring the ship within a mile or two of her destination, and a flash of the searchlight would tell the navigating officer where he was.

It is highly probable that in the course of their experimental voyages the German airmen have charted the currents of the North Sea and learned exactly what allowance to make for drift.

Keep Endurance Secret. Regarding the question of ability to keep the air: That is a simple matter for a Zeppelin. A non-stop flight of over 13 hours and over 1,000 miles has been officially recorded, but that is certainly not the best that the Zeppelins have done; the German government does not tell its secrets to the world, and it would be well within the mark to say that a Zeppelin would remain in the air, at a pinch, for four days and nights, but it is unlikely that she would be able to manoeuvre during the whole of that time.

If we took the case of a Zeppelin starting from Cologne, say to Dover, it would be still easier to account for its movements being unobserved. The distance between places mentioned is 240 miles, or a matter of four hours' sailing. At this time of the year the whole of the journey could be made between daylight and 9.30 p. m. To reach Portsmouth from Cologne another two hours would be necessary.

STORIES OF BRAVERY FROM BALKAN STRUGGLE

Three Incidents Which Show Stuff of Which Bulgarian Soldier is Made

The Austrian and Russian doctors who have gone to work in the Balkans among the sick and wounded never cease to marvel at the fortitude and contempt for pain shown by the Bulgarian "Tommy."

Perhaps the three following incidents will further serve to show of what stuff the Bulgarian soldier is made: A sergeant—morally wounded, and feeling that his last moments had come—beckoned to his captain, who ran to his side; the wounded man managed to unblock his sword, he kissed it, handed it to the officer, then, without a moan, sank back dead.

A soldier had been terribly wounded during an attack on a Turkish entrenched position; the attack had, for the moment, failed, and his comrades were slowly retiring, when, in his half-delirium, he managed to raise himself on his hands and knees and shout, "Na, pret! Na pret!" ("Forward—Forward!") His battalion, thinking it was their colonel who called, faced about and rushed blindly through a hail of bullets to the Turkish trenches.

A few wild moments with the bayonet, and such Turks as remained alive were running for their lives, leaving a strong position in the hands of the victorious Bulgarian troops. The man

Now You Can Get Beer Without That "SKUNKY" Taste!

All you have to do is to ask for Schlitz in Brown Bottles.

Sunlight grows hops, but spoils the beer.

"Beer acted upon by light soon takes up the very disagreeable, so-called 'light taste,' and also a repulsive, skunk-like odor," says no less an authority than the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology, the scientific authorities on the subject. "Beer so affected," they say, "is offensive to the palate of most consumers."

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives the best protection against light. The Brown Bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

Why don't you, too, drink Schlitz? More and more people every year are demanding it.

who was the unconscious cause of this brilliant feat of arms was now lying dead in a stretcher of blood nearly half a mile to the rear!

During the three days' heavy fighting before Lozengrad (Kirk-Kilise) was taken, a certain Bulgarian soldier got a bullet in his right shoulder. He lay for a moment half stunned, but opened his eyes just in time to see the ambulance men coming for him. Instinctively he knew that this meant hospital, and hospital, meant no more fighting for him for some time to come—a dreadful prospect! With an effort he struggled to his feet, determined to run and hide somewhere from these interfering hospital people! It was no good; he was caught and put on a stretcher and carried to the nearest ambulance wagon for transport to hospital. The stretcher was laid on the ground for a moment, and our friend, who was beginning to gain a little strength, seized the golden opportunity to scramble up and make off; but his strength failed and he fell forward fainting. He was brought back and securely strapped to the ambulance and taken to the field hospital, where his wound was dressed and he was put to bed. It was in vain that he pointed out to the doctors that he still had one arm, and, therefore, was as good as any two Turks! He was sternly told to keep quiet.

But the doctors did not know their man. That very night he managed to elude the vigilance of the nurses and hospital orderlies, and to escape! In the darkness he made his way back to his regiment, where he was found a delirious wreck in the morning. It is said the doctors discussed earnestly together as to whether or not it would be a good plan to cut both his legs off, as the only way of keeping him in bed until his shoulder healed.—The Eye-stander.

HOSPITAL INQUIRY DISCLOSES LITTLE

Investigation is Held Into Incident at Isolation Hospital

MEDICAL OFFICER AND SMALL PATIENT

Etiquette of Profession Left Child in Care of Own Physician

A select committee of the city council, consisting of Mayor Morley, Aldermen McCandless, chairman; and Aldermen Houston and Dilworth, heard evidence this morning in the Isolation hospital inquiry. The case before the committee was a charge laid by Director E. Kermode concerning the treatment in that institution last spring of his little daughter. It was alleged by Mr. and Mrs. Kermode that the child was detained there improperly through the instrumentality of Dr. G. A. B. Hall, medical health officer.

to interfere with another physician's treatment of a patient, nor would he do so unless it was in the public health interest. The fact of an error in the diagnosis would not hold him responsible.

In answer to Mayor Morley the city solicitor stated that there was nothing in the public health regulations defining the responsibilities of the officers of the hospital for the treatment of patients. So far as the bathing together, the doctor said that the baths were made antiseptic, and that he would not object to it personally.

J. H. Austin appeared for Mr. Kermode, W. C. Moresby for Dr. G. A. B. Hall and City Solicitor Robertson watched the case for the city.

Serious Reflection. Before the public withdrew Mr. Moresby said the letter of Mr. Kermode to the city council was a serious reflection on a professional man, and it was not to be wondered that Dr. G. A. B. Hall had resented the statements which reflected on his acts as an official and medical man.

Alderman Dilworth wanted to know who authorized that the appeal against the finding in the small leprosy court be abandoned.

After consultation between the mayor and the city solicitor the latter said that the mayor had thought it would be better not to pursue the appeal as a small amount only was in question. The committee subsequently sat in private. It is understood that the committee will recommend that a receiving ward be established, as the medical officer has several times suggested to the council.

Mr. Kermode stated before the inquiry adjourned that he had no objection to Dr. Hall, nor any desire to hamper him. Previous to this he had stated in his evidence in chief that when he had discussed the matter with the mayor, the mayor had told him if he would embody the charges in a letter a committee of investigation would be appointed to investigate it thoroughly.

Another child, a brother of the patient, subsequently developed German measles. After Mr. Kermode returned to Victoria some correspondence passed between the medical officer and Mr. Kermode, and as the bill for fees tendered by the city council was not paid, the city solicitor took proceedings in the small debts court to collect the charge. The account, however, was thrown out in court.

Had No Power.

Dr. Hall stated that he had no power

Causes Much Disease Advice about Stomach Troubles and how to relieve them.

Don't neglect indigestion, for it may lead to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent physician once said that ninety-five per cent of all ills have their origin in a disordered stomach.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be one of the most dependable remedies known for indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. Rich in Pepsin and Bismuth, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine, the relief they afford is very prompt. Used persistently and regularly for a short time, they tend to relieve pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets help insure healthy appetite, aid digestion, and promote nutrition. An evidence of our faith in them, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give entire satisfaction, we will return the money you paid us without question or formalities. Three boxes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. TWO OF THE BRIMLESS HATS.

Quite new and becoming was the hat at the top of this sketch. The wearer was a decided blonde and the hat was only a crown of elongated shape, covered with amethyst velvet. Around the front is a wreath of pink roses with gold lace and green velvet leaves. At each side are wired loops of amethyst satin ribbon, connected by a band of the ribbon, which extends across the back.

The black velvet hat is a draped cup-shaped crown, trimmed with donkey ears, placed in front and bent to suit the wearer.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE SPRINGS A SURPRISE

Deliver Political Speech at Annual Dinner of Canadian Club

REPLY TO EMPIRE TOAST HAD UNEXPECTED NATURE

Rev. John Mackay, Vancouver Branch President, Was Among Speakers

"The arguments in behalf of building a navy in Canada appeal to our materialism rather than to our patriotism," declared Chief Justice Hunter at the annual dinner of the Canadian Club in the Empress hotel last evening in a most unusual speech. Few addresses ever delivered before a Canadian Club have wandered farther into the treacherous fields of politics. The chief justice came out emphatically in support of the Borden naval policy and endorsed in words which could not be misunderstood the plan of giving the Imperial government a sum of money ($25,000,000 was mentioned) to be used in the 6th Country strengthening the North sea fleet, or whatever fleet needed the most strengthening in the opinion of the home government.

The speech was received with doubtful grace by the members of the Canadian Club, an organization whose rule is that the field of politics shall not be entered by speakers addressing it. During that portion of Chief Justice Hunter's address in which he dealt with the existing naval problem, one could have heard a pin drop. Only occasionally did some bold sympathizer with the speaker's views express his gratification by a whispered "hear, hear," or a gentle clapping of the hands.

Might Speak Feelings. The chief justice realized the unusual procedure he was making.

"I am aware that I have no voice," he said. "Perhaps I don't want a vote under the existing circumstances. I think I have some rights as a British subject, and I have yet to find the process that will muzzle my tongue. I am aware that what I am saying will be unpalatable to some, and that they will think I trespass, but ever in my position I believe I may speak as I feel."

The duty assigned by the programme to Chief Justice Hunter was that of replying to the toast to the Empire, and the introductory portion of his address dealt with his belief that eventually the greatest catastrophe in the history of the Empire, the secession of the American colonies, would yet be amended by a union in some form of the two great Anglo-Saxon nations. Such a union would be the world's greatest contribution to peace, and if his hearers thought that he was too Utopian, then the British Empire as at present constituted was the strongest influence for universal peace. But for the British navy the European nations would be flying at each other's throats over the disputes of to-day. Germany would attack France but for that navy.

"We have been a confederated nation now for 60 years. What have we contributed to that navy? We have done nothing that we can be proud of. Canada has not done herself credit in the past in supporting or contributing to the support of the Empire.

Affects All Men. The question arises, what is our duty? While the matter of a permanent policy is properly a matter of public discussion on which leading men may well disagree if there is an emergency the taking of steps to meet it should not be brought into the field of party politics. It is not even a Canadian question, it is an Imperial question, a world question; it affects all mankind.

"Is there an emergency? Surely on this we can accept the advice of the Imperial government. It satisfies me that the Imperial government has revised the Canadian government, that there is an emergency. But aside from words is it not significant that the British government has this year increased its annual naval expenditure enormously? Although we have word from the German chancellor no farther back than to-day that there is no immediate prospect of a European war, actions speak louder than words and the German Empire has undertaken a war expenditure this year of £50,000,000, and is levying a war tax. Strain after strain is being added to tension among the nations that is already almost intolerable.

"If that is not proof of an emergency I don't know what would satisfy some men.

Appeals to Materialism. "Assuming then that there is an emergency what is better than to give a contribution freely and directly to the home government? Some say it would be better to spend the money here in Canada. Why, at the lowest figure it would take six years to establish navy yards here and two more years to produce a single dreadnought. By eight years there may be something worse than an emergency.

"If those are the facts how idle it is to talk of spending money that would otherwise be handed over to the Old Country here in Canada. That argument appeals to our materialism, not to our patriotism.

"It is also suggested that we station the ships in our own country and give them to the mother country only in time of need. If a war occurred, of what avail would a battleship and a couple of cruisers be to us? Their place is in the fighting line, not rusting in Vancouver or Victoria, while their officers disport themselves on the golf links. It has always been the aim of Britons in time of war to get near, if not at, the enemy.

Circumstances Differ. "The precedent of Australia is held up to us for emulation. But the circumstances are different. We are within a week's steaming distance of Europe, while Australia is not even within coaling radius. Their fear is from China and Japan, and they do rightly in preparing to protect themselves, even in the face of an emergency.

"What we in Canada need is more arguments to our patriotism and fewer to our selfishness, forgetting our interest in Malta, Hongkong, Singapore and these other isolated places.

"I only hope that we shall not be called upon to suffer for our apathy and neglect, and that a merciful Providence will overlook our shortcomings.

A brief address on the resources of British Columbia was given by the Hon. Dr. H. E. Young, in which he warned against attempting to develop the country along 32-foot lots. Agriculture was the first interest, he said, and real estate last. He predicted a marvellous development along the lines of agriculture in British Columbia within the next five years.

A stirring patriotic address on Canada by M. B. Jackson, and another address on the Canadian Club by the Rev. John Mackay, D. D., president of the Vancouver Canadian Club, concluded the speeches. R. W. Ferry was chairman.

LITTLE WILL BE DONE

School Board Will Not Have Heavy Programme This Evening.

There will not be a heavy order paper at the school board meeting this evening. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Jenkins from the city, and the fact that Capt. McIntosh is not expected to attend, there will be only a bare quorum at the meeting, and little new business will be introduced.

A report will be received from Superintendent Paul with regard to the pressure on the school accommodation and the steps which are being taken to supplement the present provision. The tents and temporary annexes have been added since the last meeting of the board, taking a number of pupils.

New janitors have to be named to replace the officials who have resigned from the Boy's Central and Hillside schools. Two of three teachers are also to be appointed.

HOTEL PLANNED FOR GOVERNMENT STREET

Stephen Jones to Build Hotel This Year to Face Courtenay

A hotel which will cover the north side of Courtenay street, from Government to Gordon street, will be erected this year. Stephen Jones, the owner of the property, contemplates the erection of a hotel on this site, as an improvement to the central portion of the city. The Windsor saloon occupies the Government street corner at the present time, and the license for this will expire at the end of the year.

The height to which the building will be carried is not yet decided, but it is proposed to construct a hotel, which will be up to date in every particular. It will be of fireproof construction, throughout and will embody the latest improvements.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By RUTH CAMERON

Did you ever try to define a word? I don't simply mean to give a vague idea of its meaning, but to accurately define a word just as the dictionary does.

If you never have, make the experiment some day. I think you will get a lot of surprise when you find how difficult it is. We all think we know the meaning of the common words we use day in and day out, but how many of them could we really define? Not one probably. Knowing a thing and being able to express it accurately are two very different matters. Besides, we don't really know the full meaning of half the words we use.

Some evening when you want something to talk of about the open fire, or around the reading lamp, bring up this subject. Someone will be sure to say that he can easily define simple words. Suggest that he begin by defining some very common word like "animal". The chances are a hundred to one that he will not be able to do it correctly.

Remember, a definition may describe the thing to be defined perfectly and yet not be a good definition. For it must not only describe that thing, but it must also exclude all others, and unless it does that it is not a real definition.

Most of us are too apt to think of the dictionary as a very stupid book, to be consulted only when we want to know how to spell a word, and not even then if we can get the information in any other way. That is all wrong. If we want to understand the English language, we ought to consult the dictionary easily and often. If I wanted a child to learn to express himself well in written and spoken English—and I know of no more valuable tool with which to work for success than just that ability—I should give him a small but reliable dictionary as soon as he learned to read, show him how to use it, and insist that he keep it in a convenient place and consult it constantly. I think I should also supply him with a thesaurus which, as you probably know, is a book somewhat like a dictionary, but containing synonyms and antonyms for words instead of their definitions. If more people were acquainted with these two books, we should not have so much slovenly English talked and written.

To return to my original theme. Don't forget to try the game of definitions. It will help good mental discipline, and I fancy it will inspire in you a new respect for the men who make the dictionaries, especially for the pioneer Samuel Johnson. I can remember a time when I used to wonder why compiling the dictionary was considered Johnson's greatest achievement. Since trying to define a few words myself, I wonder no longer.

FOR A LITTLE GIRL.

A pretty blouse dress of blue serge is the subject of this sketch. It slips on over the head and the tightening of the lacing cord closes the front. This cord is of coral pink lacing braid and matches in color the triangular tabs seen on the yoke, sleeves and belt. The same color is used as piping on the belt and cuffs.

Gilt buttons ornament the tabs and gold cord was used to work the eyelets. A hand-embroidered linen sailor collar is worn over the yoke.

II. THE COAST OF PERU

Lima's Old World Air.

For more than half the year, Lima has a peculiar climate. It is never cold enough to have a fire, but usually cold enough to make you wish for one. It never rains, but it is never dry; that is to say, it is not wet enough to make one hold up an umbrella, yet wet enough to soak one's clothes.

Despite her earthquakes, and despite her damp and murky air, which depresses the traveller who had looked for brilliant sunshine the City of the Kings retains that light-hearted gaiety and gift for social enjoyment for which she was famous in the old days. Not even political disasters, nor revolutions more frequent than earthquakes, have dulled the edge of pleasure.

Lima retains more of an old Spanish air than do the much larger capitals of the southern republics, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay. Its vice-regal court was long the centre of the best society of the Continent. Its archbishop was the greatest ecclesiastical potentate in the Southern Hemisphere. It had a closer connection with Spain through its leading families, as well as through official channels, than any other place.

Loyalty to the Spanish monarchy was strongest here. It was the last great city that held out for the Catholic King, long after all the other countries, both to the north and south, had followed the examples of revolt set by Mexico and Argentina. And it is also, with the exception of remote and isolated Bogota, where some few Spanish families are said to have kept their European blood untouching by native influences, the place in which the oldest Castilian is spoken and the Castilian pride of birth is most cherished.

From Callao it is two days more on to Mollendo, over a cold, grey, tumbling sea, along a brown and cloud-shadowed coast.

Next to Callao in its importance as a Peruvian port, is this little town of Mollendo, for from it starts the principal railway in the country, that climbs the Andes, traverses the central plateau, and sends out branches to Cuzco (the capital of the Incas) on the north, and on the southeast to the frontier of Bolivia, on the shore of Lake Titicaca. It is the main avenue to the interior of the country.

A Zigzag Trip to Wonderland.

The railroad runs south for some miles between the cliffs along a stretch of sand, on which the surf booms in slow thunder, then leaves the shore and turns up into the clouds, mounting in long zigzags the steep acclivities of the mountain, and following here and there what were hardly to be called gullies, but rather waterless hollows, down which once in nine or ten years a rain storm may send a torrent.

The mist grows thicker and damper as one rises and with the cooler and damper air there begins to be a little vegetation, some flowers, and low, thorny shrubs, such as are usually found on arid soils. Away off to the south, occasional glimpses are caught of a river valley far below, where the bright green and yellow of crops on the irrigated banks make a pleasant relief to the monotony of the brown or black slopes, up which we keep our way. Curiosity grows more intense to know what lies behind those dreary mountains.

At last, after two hours of steady climbing to a height of over four thousand feet, the train reaches what seems to be the top of the range, but proves to be really the edge of a tableland, as it emerges on to level ground, it suddenly passes out of the mists into dazzling sunshine, and stops at a spot called Cachendo. We step out, and have before us a view, the like of which we had never seen before.

In front, looking eastward, was a wide plain of sand and pebbles with loose piles and shattered ridges of black rock rising here and there from its surface, all shimmering in the sunlight. Beyond the plain, thirty miles away, is a long line of red and grey mountains, their sides all bare, their crags pierced by deep, dark gorges, so that they seem full of shadows. Behind these mountains again, and some fifty or sixty miles distant, three gigantic mountains stand up and close the prospect.

A Quintet of Andean Giants.

That farthest to the south is a long line of precipices, crowned here and there by spires and towers of rock, seventeen thousand feet in height. This is Pichu Pichu. Its faces are too steep for snow, save in the gorges that scar them here and there, but lower down, where the slopes are less abrupt, every gully is white with desert sand blown up by the winds.

Next to the north is a huge purple-black cone, streaked near its top with snow beds, and lower down by lines of red or grey ash and black lava. This is El Misti, a volcano not quite extinct, for though there has been no eruption for centuries, faint curls of steam still rise from the crater. It stands quite alone, evidently of far more recent Tibet and Turkestan, do snow mountains rise out of waterless deserts.

Yet this contrast was only a part of the strange weirdness of the landscape, a landscape unlike Alps or Pyrenees or Apennines, unlike the Caucasus or the Himalaya, unlike the Rocky Mountains and Sierra Nevada of North America. The foreground of wandering sand and black stones, the sense of solitude and of boundless space, a space useless to man and solitude he can never people, the grimness of these bare walls of rock and pinnacles of untrodden snow rising out of a land with neither house nor field nor flower nor animal life, but only two lines of steel running across the desert floor, would have been terrible were it not for the exquisite richness and variety of the colors.

In the foreground the black rocks and the myriad glitter of sand crystals were sharp and clear. The tints were more delicate on the red hills beyond, and the stern severity of the precipices in the far background was softened into tenderness by distance. The sunlight that burned upon these lines of iron and danced in waves of heat upon the rocks, seemed to bring out on all the nearer hills and all the distant crags varieties of hue, sometimes contrasted, sometimes blending into another, for which one could find no names, for pink melted into lilac and violet into purple.

Two months later, in the forests of when this is apprehended large stones are heaped up at the convex of the crescent and the movement is thus arrested or the sand dissipated.

Such scanty vegetation as we had seen on the mist-covered hills toward the coast, has here quite disappeared under the fiery sun—not even a cactus lifts its stiff stem. It is all sand and rocks, till the line, having run for some twenty miles across the Pampa, enters and begins to climb the second stairway mountains to another and higher level, which forms the second terrace over which the way lies to the central plateau.

The stairway is that line of red and grey mountains which were described as filling the middle distance in the view from Cachendo. Winding up through the hollows and along their faces the train enters a deep gorge or canyon, at the bottom of which, between vertical rock walls, is seen a foaming stream, and mounted along a ledge cut out in the side of the gorge. The canyon widens a little, and at its bottom are seen bright green patches of alfalfa, cultivated with patient toil by the Indians who water them by tiny rills drawn from the stream.

The Second City of Peru.

At last the line emerges on open and nearly level ground. One has opened the second step and reached the second terrace, or shelf of the Peruvian tableland. Here on a gently rising slope, in a grand amphitheatre, the north-eastern and eastern and southeastern sides of which are formed by the three great peaks, Chachani, El Misti and Pichu Pichu stands Arequipa, the second city of Peru.

It is built on a gentle slope, on both sides of the river Chile, a torrent descending from distant snows in a broad, shallow and stony bed, and indeed owes its existence to this river. Soet was the presence of water, enabling a little oasis in the desert to be cultivated, that caught the military eye of Francisco Pizarro. Discerning the need for a Spanish origin than the third great mass, its neighbor on the north, Chachani, which, though also of volcanic rock, has long since lost its crater, and rises in three great black pinnacles, divided by valleys filled with snow.

Both El Misti and Pichu Pichu exceed nineteen thousand feet. They are not, however, the loftiest ground visible. Far, far away to the north, there tower up two white giants, Anapato, and (farther west) the still grander Coropuna. It stands alone in a vast wilderness, a hat-topped cone at the end of a long ridge, based on mighty buttresses all deep with snow and fringed with glaciers.

These five mountains belong to the line of the great Western Cordillera, which runs, apparently along the line of a volcanic fissure, all the way north to Ecuador and Colombia. A Spillside That Can Never Be Peopled.

This was our first view of the Andes, a view to which few parts of the Old World furnish anything similar, for nowhere else, except in Iceland, and in Brazil, we were to see what the sun of the tropics does for stimulating an exuberant life; here we saw what beauty he can give to sterility.

Climbing the Stairways of the Andes.

This "Pampa," or flat stretch of ground over which the railroad runs, is the first step eastward and upward from the sea on to the great inner plateau of Peru, and has a height of from four to five or six thousand feet. Its surface is generally level, yet broken by ridges and hummocks of rock, and dotted all over by mounds of fine grey or brownish sand, composed of minute shining crystals.

These said hills, called "pedaneros," are mostly crescent shaped, much like the moon in its first quarter, steep on the convex side, and from ten to fifteen or even twenty feet high. They drift from place to place under the south wind, which blows strongly and steadily during the heat of the day, the convex of the crescent always facing the wind. Sometimes they are swept on to and block the railway line; and stronghold between the interior tableland and the coast, he chose this spot by the river at the foot of the pias that gives the easiest access to that tableland. It had already been a rest-house station, as its Quechua name implies, on one of the Inca tracks, from Cuzco (the capital of the Incas) to the sea, along which a service of swift Indian runners is said to have been maintained by the Incas and to have carried up fresh fish to the monarch at Cuzco. It became the seat of a bishop, was soon well stocked with churches and convents, and has ever since held its head high, proud of its old families, and having occupied that occupation by the victorious Chilean army to which Lima succumbed.

The air has the desert quality of purity and invigorating freshness. Although thin, for the height above the sea is over seven thousand feet; it is not thin enough to affect the heart or lungs of most persons in ordinary health. The sun's heat is great and there is so little to do that no one needs to work in the hot hours, and for the matter of that, nobody, except the Indians, and the clerks of a few European firms, works at all. The nights are deliciously cool.

The clearness of the air has led to its being selected as the site of an astronomical observatory, maintained by Harvard University, for mapping out the stars of the Southern Hemisphere. Not even in Egypt or in the deserts of South Africa do the constellations shine with a more brilliant lustre.

Arequipa's Marvelous Setting.

I found myself wondering whether the fascination of the city, with views out over the furrowed desert to the west, where the sun goes down into the cloud bank that hangs over the Pacific, and views up to the tall peaks that guard it to the east, would retain its power when it had grown familiar, and wondering, also, whether, through the four centuries since Europeans came to dwell here, there were many who drew delight from the marvelous nature that surrounds it, and found in the contemplation of this extraordinary scenery some relief from the monotony of life in a society so small and so isolated.

The three great mountain masses that tower over the city, emblems of solid and unchanging strength in their form, are always changing in their aspect. The snows creep down in the season of rains, and ascend again when the time of drought returns. Sunrise and sunset bring perpetual miracles of loveliness in the varying play of colors upon snow and rocks.

Pichu Pichu, with its long, grey line of precipices, glows under the western sun in every tint of pink and crimson. Chachani's black pinnacles turn to a dark violet, while the snows between them redden. In the middle the broad-based cone of El Misti, with its dark lava flows and beds of brown or yellow ash, ranges from glowing orange to a purple deep as if the mountain were all color to its core. Behind it, when twilight comes, there rises to the zenith a pale bank of nearly grey, faintly touched by the light that is dying in the west.

No wonder that this solemn and majestic summit, traditions of whose outbursts of fire in days gone by still survive, has been personified and worshipped by the Indians, who, though nominally Christians, have, like other primitive races, retained a great deal of the ancient nature religion which sees the reverence for the mountain deities still fingers in secret among them, though it seldom takes form in sacrifices like those of the olden time, when, as tradition says, youths and maidens were flung into the crater to appease the wrath of the fire spirit.

A City of Women in Black.

Built far more solidly than Lima, with house walls five or six feet thick, and lying more out of the stream of modernizing conditions, Arequipa has retained an air of antiquity, and, it may be said, of dignity, superior to that of the capital.

There are some picturesque street vistas, but one misses the bright colors of peasant dress which a city of Old Spain or Italy would show. The women are largely in black. The black manta drawn over the head is absolutely prescribed for church; indeed, even a European visitor is not allowed to enter a church anywhere in the countries in hat or touque; she must cover her head with a manta.

The houses are low, for here, too, earthquakes are dreaded, and the streets roughly paved with large, cobblestones of hard, smooth lava. Streams of water drawn from the river run down many of them, and other streams water the fields along the outskirts. Here and there one sees a garden planted with dark green trees, which relieve the glare of light. The Plaza, less ample than that of Lima, is hardly less striking, with the great pile of the Cathedral occupying more than half of one side of it, arcades filled with shops bordering the other three sides, flowers and shrubs planted in the middle.

A City That Recalls North Africa.

Everything reminds one of the Asiatic or North African, East—the long, low, blank house walls which enclose the streets, walls into which few and small windows open, because the living rooms look into a central yard or patio; the concentration of the better sort of shops in arcades which represent the Eastern bazaar; the flat roofs on which people sit in the evenings; the deep and pungent dust; the absence of wheeled vehicles; for everybody rides, the richer on horses and the rest of the world on donkeys; the scantily dressed Indians, wild looking as Bedouins, though with reddish brown instead of yellowish brown skins.

Instead of camels there are llamas, the one native beast of burden in Peru, much smaller than the camel and more handsome, but not unlike it in its large lustrous eyes, and in the pose of its long neck, with the small erect head slightly thrown back. It resembles the camel also in its firm resolve not to move except at its own fixed pace, and to bear no load heavier than that (of one hundred pounds) to which it is accustomed.

The brilliant light, too, and the dry, keen air are like the light and air of the East. But no Eastern city has around it a mountain landscape like this. One must place Tunis or Tripoli in the valley of Zornait to get an impression of Arequipa, as it stands, unimpaired by snow fields and majestic towers of rock.

COMMITTEE MEETS

Visiting Committee Reports That Children Spent Easter Happily; Many Donations

At the monthly business meeting of the ladies' committee of the Protestant Orphans' Home at the King's Daughters' rest room, Courtney street, the following members were present: Mesdames McTavish, McCulloch, Higgins, D. Miller, C. F. Todd, Langley, Andrews, W. Dalby, A. Stewart, J. W. Spencer, Sherwood, Pierce, Toller, W. Templeman, Few and Miss Metcalfe. A new member, Mrs. J. W. Spencer, Craigdarroch Park, was warmly welcomed as a co-worker on the board.

The visiting committee reported that the nursery was now ready for occupation, and that Easter had been happily spent owing to the kindness of many friends who had sent Easter gifts in abundance. The committee accorded a hearty vote of thanks to these kind patrons. Owing to the generosity of Mrs. W. C. Todd the children had spent an enjoyable afternoon at the Durbar kinemacolor pictures.

The sorrow of the committee was expressed for the loss of Mrs. Teague, for many years a faithful member of the organization, while a motion of sympathy was passed to the relatives. Bills amounting to $242.45 were passed, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Vigelius being appointed visitors for April.

With the reading of the following donation list the meeting adjourned: Mrs. Murray, sandwiches; Mrs. Munzie, clothing; Mrs. W. C. Todd, passes and carfare to Durbar pictures; Mrs. Black Adder, clothing; Cloverdale, eggs; Mrs. Robt. Porter, eggs; Rev. Mr. Bastin and Salt Spring friends, eggs; Mrs. McTavish, buns; Mrs. Higgins, buns; Miss Dorothy McTavish, cakes, tarts; Mrs. J. Langley, oranges; Mrs. Parsons, apples, biscuits, candy; Mrs. Edwards, literature; A Friend, eggs; Mrs. Ramsdale, clothing; Good Templars Lodge, toys, dolls; Mrs. Stoddart, books; Mrs. Gordon, clothing; Mrs. A. WILL CONDUCT CANDY STALL.
Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter Will Help in "Old English Fair."—Seven New Members.

The Agnes Deans Cameron chapter of the Daughters of Empire met on Monday evening at the Alexandra Club, the regent, Mrs. Macfarlane, presiding. An hour was spent in the study of Canadian history, after which business was discussed. It was decided that the chapter would help in the "Old English Fair", to be held in May, and that it would take charge of the candy stall. An invitation was extended to the members to be present at the home of Mrs. J. H. Macfarlane, 226 Moss street, on Monday evening next to help in the preliminary work. Seven new members were admitted, and Mrs. H. C. Hanington was named as delegate to the annual meeting of the National chapter to be held in Winnipeg in May. The treasurer reported an encouraging statement of the amount which was to go toward the library fund, and the chapter decided to affiliate with the local Council of Women, Mrs. David Miller being appointed representative of the chapter. The date of the business meeting was changed from the second Monday in the month to the first.

"CHIMES OF NORMANDY"

Comic Opera to Be Produced at Victoria Theatre Next Week by Lady Douglas Chapter.

The "Chimes of Normandy," which was produced for the first time in this city shortly after the opening of the Victoria theatre in 1886, will be produced on Thursday and Friday, April 17 and 18, under the auspices of the Lady Douglas chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, at the same theatre, and will probably be one of the best as well as one of the first operettas to appear on that stage. An excellent cast of amateur talent has been selected, and the event should draw crowded houses each evening. It will be given under the patronage of his honor the lieutenant-governor, Colonel Roy, D. O. C., and the officers of the garrison; Lieut.-Colonel A. W. Currie and officers of the Fifth Regiment; Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Hall and officers of the 88th Victoria Fusiliers. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to patriotic purposes. The box office will open on Monday, April 14, although those who wish to obtain their tickets by mail order may do so earlier.

LONDON FRESH AIR FUND.

To the Editor:—Once again I would ask you to be so good as to allow me to place before your readers the claims of the Fresh Air Fund. I do so with the more assurance since the experience of past years has convinced me of the ready sympathy and generosity of the people of Canada. There is, indeed, no more encouraging feature of our work among the children of the slums than the warm-hearted help of friends overseas who, by their letters and by their practical assistance, show that they do not forget the neglected little ones at home.
It is difficult, perhaps, for those who dwell in sunny climates, in spacious cities where destitution is practically unknown, to picture to themselves the distressing poverty of the slums of the United Kingdom. An urgent cry wells up from many a dreary court and squalid tenement, it is the cry of the prisoners of the slums who long for a sight of the sun and a breath of pure air. It is our task to see that this cry reaches the ears of those good-hearted folk who, if they heard it, would gladly make an effort to send joy where joy is so little known.
The Fresh Air Fund exists to carry out such charitable impulses. It lifts the poor town children out of their sordid environment, and gives them a day's holiday in the fresh air among green fields and forest glades, or by the sea. Even those who have no children can recollect something of their own youthful feeling for Santa Claus. Well, the F. A. F. is the Father Christmas of the slums, but he comes in the summer when the crowded alleys are hot and stifling, and when the need for relief is most urgent.
When you are only ten or eleven years old, and when out of 36 days there is only one that is rose-colored, you don't lose your hold of that one so easily. You long for it to come, you look back at it very often.
Thousands of these children have known what it was for one day to be contented, and to have their fill of food and play, laughter and merriment—to enter into their heritage of nature. All through the long winter months they have been cheered by the hope that another rose-colored day awaits them this summer. And there are many thousands more who have never even had one such day, and who plead that they may be taken, too. None of your readers, I feel sure, would like to think that some waif had been left behind weeping out its little heart because they had forgotten to send the trifling sum that will mean so much to it.
Some of these children are so ailing, stunted, physically and morally, that a day in the country would be of little use. As many of these as possible are sent away by the Fresh Air Fund for a fortnight to the country or seaside. They are tenderly cared for, they play or bask in the sun all day, and at night they sleep in clean white beds.
To them the country is a Paradise, an almost incredible fairyland. The benefit of the change to their health is only surpassed by the impression made on their characters. They gain ideals. Many of them experience for the first time the joys, the comforts, and the refining influence of home. Most of them have never before realized the meaning of the word "country." They feel for the first time the thrill of boundless sea and fields and sky. The flowers, the trees and animals, the hundred familiar objects of the countryside which we scarcely notice appeal to them with the magic interest of the unknown.

There occurs to me in this connection a story recently told me by one of our nurses. A little crippled girl who had never been away from her lun-land was sent for a fortnight last summer to a country farm. She was very shy and bewildered on her arrival. And it was some time before she thawed under the influence of the motherly farmer's wife. But as the novelty of her surroundings passed away, she attached herself with dog-like devotion to her new friend.
The little cripple was specially interested on her first day by the chicken run, as she had not previously met a live fowl. In the evening the farmer's wife was sitting in the rose-covered porch of the farmhouse plucking a chicken. The little girl sat by her side, watching her intently with evident surprise. At last her curiosity overcame her shyness.
"Please, lady, do you take their clothes off every night?"
There are many thousands of little boys and girls who might well be excused for asking the same question. What can you expect? The sun, where the sun beats down on grimy pavements and drags up the stench from alley courts is the only playground that they know. And at night they lie sweltering in their rags three, four, a dozen in a room, huddled together on sacking or bare boards, their uneasy sleep broken by the sound of angry, blasphemous language.
For the little sum of nine-pence you can give one of these prisoners a day's freedom. 28 2s. will provide a holiday for two hundred children with the necessary attendants—and that day may be called by any name desired. The cost of a fortnight's holiday for one child is 6s.
The outstanding feature of the Fresh Air Fund is that every penny received in subscriptions is spent on the children. There are no expenses of management, no rents of offices, no salaries, these are paid by the promoters. There are no distinctions of creed. Poverty is the passport to the F. A. F. country.
The King is patron of the fund and a generous annual subscriber. Four years ago His Majesty with Queen Mary spent an afternoon among 1,900 F. A. F. children in Epping Forest.
This year the F. A. F. enters on the 22nd year of its work. We hope to send 25,000 children to the country for a day, and at least 5,000 for a fortnight. The F. A. F. has never looked back. Each year we progress, and we shall not rest content until every deserving child in the Kingdom can be sent for a fortnight's holiday.
There is need, therefore, for every penny; and what better reward could any man or woman ask than to know that at least one child has not been left behind?
Subscriptions should be made payable to the Fresh Air Fund and addressed to the Hon. Secretary at 28, Bride Street, London, E. C.
C. ARTHUR PEARSON,
London, Eng., March 28.
[Subscriptions to the Fresh Air Fund will be received at the Times office and forwarded to London. It is not too much to ask that Victoria contribute enough to give 200 children one holiday in the country. Forty dollars will do it.—Editor Times.]

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED

Until She was Nearly Crazy. Began with Watery Blisters. On Ears, Eyes, Hands and Ankles. Could Not Sleep for Scratching. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.
Brunswick St., Fredericton, N. B.—"I had a very bad case of eczema. The trouble began with watery blisters and itched and burnt until I was nearly crazy. It was on my ears, eyes, hands and ankles. I could not keep the bed clothes over me at night for the smarting and itching. My ears would swell. I would scratch until the blood would run and then form a scab. I felt as if I could take a knife and cut the flesh on my hands. It would disfigure my face and make it smart and burn and swell. I could not sleep at night for scratching.
"I tried everything I heard of without getting any benefit. I used lots of home remedies, such as lard and sulphur, and also was treated for it. Then I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they gave me great ease. I used them about four months and I am happy to say I am never troubled now. The Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me completely." (Signed) Mrs. A. S. Thompson, Mar. 9, 1912.
The regular use of Cuticura Soap for toilet and bath not only tends to preserve, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but assists in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, sticky and other unsightly conditions of the skin. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card Posters Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 44D, Boston, U. S. A.

IDEAS OF A PLAIN MAN
By DR. FRANK CRANE.

What is the difference between the idealist and the fanatic?
Simply this, that in the fanatic is a "missing link." He "I" to connect his knowledge of what ought to be with his knowledge of what is.
The most beautiful of fanatics is probably the anarchist. I do not mean the depreciable creature who has no idea of what anarchy really is, and only borrows the word to cover their irresponsible vicious instincts; they have no more right to the name of anarchist than a bloody inquisitor of the year 1290, pouring molten lead into a heretic's ear, had a right to call himself a Christian.
I mean the apostles of the vision that the ideal condition of the race is that of having no outward law, each man being a law unto himself.
"This will undoubtedly be mankind's millennial condition. It is in line with the scriptural prophecy that the days shall come when the laws shall no more be written upon tablets, but the Lord shall write them upon our hearts."
Now, as long as one has this vision, believes it, and works toward it, yet recognizes the facts of imperfections of humanity as it really is to-day, and seeks to connect his dream with actual conditions, he is an idealist, and does us all good.
But when he is so drunk with his vision that he tells us to smash all existing society, and that we are utterly rotten and hopeless, he is a fanatic. He forgets that whatever the future of the race is to be it must grow out of the present.

TO-DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

After the capture of Louisbourg in 1758 by the New England troops under their merchant-commander, Pepperell, the English government planned an attack on Quebec; and on April 9, 1768, the incompetent secretary of state, Newcastle, wrote to Pepperell and to Shirley, governor of Massachusetts, informing them that five battalions of soldiers were being sent from England for the reduction of Canada. Newcastle also gave directions for the raising of troops in the British North American colonies, some of which were "to rendezvous" at Louisbourg to aid in the attack on Quebec, and the others to gather at Albany and proceed to capture Montreal, or failing that, to lay waste the open country between that town and Quebec. A share of the booty of the Canadian towns was to go to the colonial soldiers. The king hoped that the colonies would raise five thousand men, and supply pilots and transports for conveying the troops to the St. Lawrence. Owing, it was explained, to the recent rebellion raised by the "Young Pretender," the British government had been unable to make ready during the winter for such an expedition. The English colonists prepared for attack, the Canadians for defence, but the promised English forces never came at all.

CANADIAN RAILWAY TO ENTER SEATTLE

Activity in Realty Ascribed to Operation of Agents of the Company

That the Canadian Pacific railway is to enter Seattle and is now busy acquiring options on property there is a rumor which is greatly exciting the people of the Sound city. There has been a marked activity in real estate in the northern end of the city and the rumor—which will not be downed—persists that the great Canadian company is responsible.

At present the Canadian Pacific runs trains to Seattle over the line of the Northern Pacific railway, and some years ago officials of the company in Vancouver announced that the railway was to have its own terminals in the American city.

W. H. Vincent, one of the prominent business men of Seattle, is in the city to-day, staying at the Strathcona hotel. Though he neither confirms nor denies the reports, it is believed that he is well informed in the matter. Mr. Vincent is one of the heaviest owners of property in Seattle, and is a frequent visitor to Victoria.

It's Easy to Peel Off All Your Freckles

(From American Home.)

The contrast between the freckles and the clear skin usually is so great that no beach can be more than partially successful in obliterating the disfigurements. Ordinary mercurized wax is far better; it literally peels off the freckles. Get an ounce of it at the nearest drug store and to-night spread on enough to completely cover your face; remove in the morning with warm water. Repeat daily until every freckle has disappeared. Rough, blotchy, pimpled skin, also common at this season, may be entirely gotten rid of by this same method, without discomfort or inconvenience. The effort is decidedly worth while, this new complexion obtained being so clear, smooth and youthful.

If bothered with wrinkles, after washing off the mercurized wax bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. This is the most effective and quickest-acting wrinkle treatment known.

COURSE OF THE SUN.

It is not known whether the sun is moving around another as a centre. All probabilities are against the idea. Since the invention of the telescope and micrometer no turning to the right or left has been detected. It, so far as known, seems to be moving along on a straight line. But analogy is against this also. Millions of other suns attract ours, and the path thereof a doubt bends this way and that, like that of a bee in a swarm, but the curvature cannot be noticed. Draw a circle ten miles in diameter, cut out one inch, and you would say the inch is a straight line. The sun's path traversed during the last 300 years at twelve miles per second is about in the proportion of this cut out inch.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

their influence, and General von Holt Goitz was on hand to take over the job. After his transference to the Turkish capital, ostensibly to drill the army, a significant change in the Turkish policies took effect. Thousands of young Turks made their way to German military schools. It was necessary to do this, as ability to speak German fluently was the only avenue to promotion. Within a year the Turkish side became Germanized. The Kaiser proclaimed himself the protector and defender of the Turks.

German Influence Uppermost. Consequent on the new order of military things a great change has come over the commercial and manufacturing phases of Turkish life. Large concessions have been made to German companies and enterprises through the influence of the German military lords. German commodities are now welcomed in the Ottoman markets, and the late German ambassador, Baron von Biebersheim, who recently died in London, England, to which place he had been transferred from Constantinople, played an important part in the effort to Germanize the Sultan, with considerable success. Hitherto the British representative had occupied the position of chief foreign adviser to the Sultan, but the German had taken his place. A few years ago everything in Turkey was English; the articles sold on the streets of Constantinople and Smyrna were made in Sheffield, Manchester or Liverpool. But Germany has superseded. Every well-educated young Turk speaks German fluently. Many of the present cabinet ministers at Constantinople have received their education in German universities. The remainder speak English.

The Young Turk party is the German party. Those of the old regime under Khalid Pasha, are English in spirit and sympathy. This is the reason why the "Young Turk" party has not received full recognition at Downing Street, London. With the intermittent rising and falling of these two parties Great Britain or Germany rules supreme in the heart of the Turkish capital.

Envir Bey of German Education. Envir Bey, who is considered by the European powers to be the greatest soldier in Turkey, is German by education, and the Turkish army has been drilled in the German fashion with German implements of war, but his defeat has brought him into disgrace. The German system of military training has also been ridiculed, but the Germans defend this by saying: "We teach them to use the cannon, but we cannot make them hit the mark." The real truth of the whole matter is this: the new system has supplanted the old. The soldiers have been spoiled. They are taught to perform evolutions which they think are useless. They have gone to their work half-heartedly. They are ordered to form squares and advance in a straight line. These are the German tactics, but after centuries of free and individual fighting, relying on their own individual courage and fighting qualities, where they have been able to rush into the ranks of the enemy, can you wonder at their frequent defeats?

GERMAN INFLUENCE AMONG THE TURKS

Turkish Student Says Kaiser's People Have Displaced British; Change Far Reaching

MANY YOUNG TURKS LEARNING IN GERMANY

Turkey Wants Large Army to Protect Her From Russia and Austria

The diplomatic fight for supremacy in the Ottoman Empire by Germany and Great Britain, which for the time being is on account of the Young Turk's star being in the ascendant—has resulted in something of a victory for the former is described by a young but intelligent Turkish artist, Taoufik Mufarrij, of Constantinople, a graduate of Columbia University. There is nothing of the "unspeakable Turk" about this student of sociology. He is naturally interested in the welfare of his countrymen, in their doings at the "front," but their reverses do not give him so much cause for despondency as does the knowledge of the conditions of terrible social neglect under which his countrymen are forced to live. He may return to his homeland some day and use his education as a means of teaching these Semitic people the benefits of Western civilization. Mr. Mufarrij speaks almost perfect English and fluent French. He has become Americanized, both in style and all the idioms at the command of a natural-born Canadian.

The college graduate is a student of world politics, more particularly in Europe, and European dreams of encroaching upon the territory which has been controlled by his forefathers for the past four or five hundred years. The Teutonic need for expansion and colonization may eventually reduce the Ottoman Empire to a position of political and commercial impotency. Under these circumstances Mr. Mufarrij's own story may prove of interest. Here it is: The friendship between Turkey and England passed away with the death of Disraeli, said he, and since the visit of the German Emperor to the Turkish Empire the millions of Mohammedans have looked upon Berlin as their European Mecca. England realizes that her friendship with Turkey is of great importance, because the Union Jack floats over more Mohammedan subjects and lands than the Star and Crescent of the Sultan.

Britain Protected Turkey. Great Britain, in order to please the millions of her subjects followers of Mahomet, had endeavored to protect the Turkish Empire from being divided up by her adversaries. Had it not been for this fact European Turkey would have been disintegrated long ago. Turkey has always understood Great Britain to be her real friend and protector, but England is not a land power. Her greatest need is for a magnificent fleet, while Turkey needs a strong and powerful army to protect her from the aggressions of the Russians on one side, and from Austrian ambitions on the other.

Great Britain could not give Turkey what she wanted, he continued. Under these circumstances she was forced to turn to some other European power who could organize her army and place it on a modern footing. The Germans were not long grasping this opportunity to extend

TRADING ACTIVE ON NEW YORK MARKET

Amalgamated Copper Climbs to 79 on Re-created European Demand

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
New York, April 9.—Trading was active for the day, but nervousness continued to manifest. Amalgamated Copper climbed to 79, on the strength of copper metal, there being a re-created demand from Europe and elsewhere and all the list made fair gains.

Woodrow Wilson in Philo-sophic Vein; is Not Afraid of Knave or Rascal

ELECTRICITY FROM PEAT.

In a paper read before the Mechanical Engineers' Society, Mr. Barter brings out some ideas in the way of utilizing the great natural resources which North Germany has in the shape of extensive peat fields, so that this can be used for a good part of the steam power needed for control stations. To keep pace with coming needs in this region there will have to be erected a number of electric plants giving a total of 10,000,000 horse-power, counting 5,000,000 for the use of railroads alone.

HINDUS IN CANADA.

It is well known that Canada, which holds out all kinds of inducements to prospective immigrants, is exceedingly fussy as to the immigrants she accepts. The situation as regards the Hindus in British Columbia just now is interesting. The Canadian immigration laws, as everybody is aware, restrict the entry of Hindus into the Dominion. Unable to obtain satisfaction from the Canadian authorities, the Hindus of Vancouver have sent a delegation to England to take the matter up with the imperial authorities.

UNEMPLOYMENT AROSE FROM UNUSUAL STATE

Philanthropic Bodies Received Exceptional Appeals During Past Two Months

The problem of unemployment which is giving so many anxious hours to the city authorities at the present time, and which daily brings to a large number of applicants the hope deferred which makes the heart sick, has again raised the question of the right-to-work principle which has been the subject of so much controversy in older communities.

The collapse of civic outside work suddenly last August which led to the sewer investigation, demonstrated that old employees regarded the city as in duty bound to keep them going, provided they showed a reasonable amount of attention to duty. When that collapse came the conditions were altogether artificial. Hundreds had been introduced here in connection with the big paving contract of the previous year and the building activity of that season, and it naturally created competition for the jobs which were going and which had been filled by residents of the city without demur in years past. The rapid expenditure by the city of the available funds long before the debentures had been sold, and the impossibility of floating new debentures, assured the men of the continuation of this condition of affairs, and there was a great outcry.

As Temporary Remedy.

Frequently recently it has become a question of deciding between straight charity from the mayor's fund, which is pointed out, after all is a pauperizing influence, or else the displacement of good men by those having dependent upon them. The single men who have worked hard for the corporation have been let out for married men of little experience in order to remedy temporarily this distressing state of things, hence the grievance which the Laborers' Protective Union lodged with the council on Monday, when it asked why the dismissal of Thomas Sault after fifteen years' service had taken place. This man, while single, is the support of his mother.

The same union declares that undeserving men are ousting the persons who should have priority and

HEAVY DRINKER CURED.

Samaria Cured Him and He Helps Others.

A man who has been released from the awful cravings of drink and whose first thought is to help others, shows the spirit of true brotherhood and philanthropy. Read his letter:

"The Samaria Remedy Co., Toronto, Ontario.

"Will you please send me book on drink, also circulars relating to your valued remedy for the drink habit. I wish to hand these to a friend who is going to ruin through drink. You will remember that I have taken your remedy and I find it all you claim it to be. I never think of taking or using strong drink in any way, as all desire for it has left me. I cannot speak too highly of your wonderful remedy. You may use my name in any way you wish in public.

H. LILYWHITE, Brigidon, Ontario.

Samaria prescription is tasteless and odorless, and dissolves instantly in tea or coffee or can be mixed with food. It can be given with or without the patient's knowledge. It removes the craving for drink, builds up the system and restores the nerves. Drink becomes distasteful and even nauseous. Drink is a disease, not a crime. One drink of whiskey always invites another. The inflamed nerves and stomach create a craving that must either be satisfied by more whiskey or removed by scientific treatment like Samaria Prescription. Samaria Prescription has been in regular and successful use by physicians and hospitals for over ten years.

If you know of any family needing Samaria Prescription tell them about it. If you have a husband, father or friend that is drifting into drink, help him save himself. Write to-day.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE OF Samaria Prescription with booklet giving full particulars, testimonials, prices, receipt in plain sealed package to anyone asking for it and mentioning this paper. DOG DISTURBED WEDDING.

While Harry Roberts and Miss Mabel Hemming, daughter of the Rev. Ernest Hemming, were being married in the Baptist church at Eastville (says the "New York Herald"), a setter dog, owned by C. T. Cobb, of Eastville, was busy tracing a borrowed "dress suit" owned by his master.

The bride and bridegroom had just reached the chancel and their attendants were grouped on either side when the dog, barking loudly and still following the scent of the missing suit, dashed down the aisle and sprang on the back of Mr. Arthur Addison, one of the ushers. He was wearing the borrowed clothes.

The wedding party was in a panic and the whole church in an uproar as the dog endeavored to tear the coat from the back of the usher. Many women left the church, thinking the dog had rabies. When the dog was finally evicted Mr. Addison changed his position and stood sideways to the bride party. Then the ceremony proceeded.

DOG DISTURBED WEDDING.

DEAN HART VISITS FRIENDS IN THE CITY

Distinguished Denver Clergyman Arrived Yesterday; Widely Known Speaker

The Very Rev. Henry Martyn Hart, D. D., LL.D., dean of St. John's cathedral, Denver, and widely known all over America as one of the ablest speakers and thinkers of the Church of England, arrived in the city yesterday. During the morning he called on Dean Doull, after which he lunched at the Hotel Strathcona with his old friend, Rev. Dr. Cameron. Dean Hart is the guest of Mrs. Walters, of Wynndale, Esquimaux, wife of Commander Walters of His Majesty's navy, who is expected to arrive in the city in a few days. The dean's youngest daughter, Mrs. Haddington, will be the guest of Mrs. Walters during the whole of the summer. To-day the visitors are cruising about the island with friends, seeing something of the straits' scenery and the prettier nearby inlets and harbours.

Dean Hart is a native of Otley, Yorkshire, and was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, where he took his M. A. degree in 1861, the B. D. degree three years later, and D. D. in 1885. In 1855 he was ordained deacon, a year later being ordained a priest. For some time he was in charge of St. German's church, Barchinath, London, and was headmaster of M. Pelletier house school for nearly eighteen years. In 1889 he founded the charity organization scheme, which has done so much in the ensuing years for the poor of London. In 1879 he went to Denver, Colorado, as dean of St. John's cathedral, which charge he has held ever since. In addition to his principal work, the dean has found time to publish a number of books, including a children's service book, and sermons; an elementary chemistry; a preacher's legacy; a book of Family Prayer; "Priestcraft—Roman and Other, 1900;" "The Ten Commandments in the Twentieth Century, 1906," and various articles on chemistry, geology, and mineralogy. He will leave town to-morrow en route for Denver.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the New Prescription.

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new prescription, othine—double strength—which is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by D. E. Campbell under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

HAS RARE RECORD

Mme. Clara Butt Gave 28 Concerts in South Africa With Surprising Results.

Mme. Butt's American tour under London-Charlton's management will end on the Pacific coast, where the singer and her husband embark for Australia. Travelling is one of Mme. Butt's principal activities, and has included the Far East and South Africa. Her last trip to the "Cape" embraced 28 concerts in ten cities, and the receipts averaged $2,500 a concert, a record only equalled (outside of England), in Sydney, Australia, where fourteen concerts were given within forty days, with average receipts passing the $2,500-mark. In London, of course, the Butt-Rumford concerts have attained a degree of popularity that makes sold-out houses the rule.

Mme. Clara Butt and Kennerley Rumford will sing at the Victoria theatre on Friday evening.

BARNARDO BOYS LEAVE

Party Left for Vancouver on Way East—Gave Second Concert.

The Barnardo Musical Boys, who have been in the city since Monday afternoon last, left this morning for Vancouver en route for the East, a number of the kind friends who have accommodated the boys during their stay in the city accompanying them to the boat to bid them farewell. Last evening at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church George Jay, chairman of the school board, opened the entertainment which was given to a packed and enthusiastic house, the little band of musicians being greatly encouraged by their second night's reception.

MIGHT CALL AGAIN.

He was a canvasser for an old line company and was not easily discouraged. As he knocked at this particular door he remembered that he had called before, and had received a point-blank "No."

"Oh!" remarked the lady of the house, "it's you again, is it? Come in."

Hopefully he accepted the invitation, and followed his guide down a dimly-lighted passage. Suddenly a door opened on his right, and before he was aware he was ushered into a room full of howling bairns who redoubled their efforts at the sight of a stranger.

The canvasser turned to find his retreat cut off. The door was locked behind him. The woman went on with her washing, and an hour or so later she went to the door. "Now," she remarked, sweetly, "if you still feel convinced that I require a little more Assurance protection in the house, you might call again." The man has not been in that district since.—Canadian Workman.
